GERMANY SEEKS HEAVY LOAN IN PARIS

TOURISTS FAIL TO SEE WORST OF CONDITIONS

INDUSTRIAL TOWNS OF GERMANY ARE HARDEST HIT

(Editor's Note: Germany now has her moratorium. What will she do with it? This is the third of a series of stories giving the industrial problems which German leaders must solve.)

Berlin (AP)—American tourists returning from Germany this summer do btless will be asked by all their f iends:

"W at did you see of the distress among Germans which brought affairs to such a critical pass and led President Hoover to propose with sudden and unexpected vigor a twelve-month debts and reparations holiday?"

And if the returning tourists are conscientious they probably will reply that they saw very little distress among the population—at least very little more than they could see at home.

Towns Badly Hit

Such a reply would be entirely faithful to the facts easily observed during a brief stay in Berlin and several still briefer visits to some of the towns and cities long renowned among travelers for picturesqueness and historical interest. But nevertheless the reply would be misleading, and for two reasons.

In t e first place, an imminent financi crash doesn't warn the man on he street that it is about to happ n. And in the second place, Germany's greatest distress is not in Berlin or in communities which practically live off the tourist traffic, but in obscure little villages and industrial towns scarcely if ever visited by an American tourist.

For example: Glashuette, Saxony, is a little industrial town south of Dresden specializing in the manufacture of precision watches, chronometers and other precision instruments. The bread-winners of Glashuette therefore may be classed as skilled workers of a type rather above the average.

The population is 3,147 and there are in all 800 households. Of these 800 ho eholds 500 are living today off t unemployment dole or commun aid, with more and more burd falling on the community bec e federal unemployment insura ce takes care of the jobless worker only for the first 26 weeks of his joblessness.

Only three households out of every eight are able to say, "Well, we still can earn our living."

Hundreds of Cases

Consequently, mayors of such towns telegraph appeals to Chancellor Bruening such as, "We are at the end of the rope," or "Unless

Eastern States Receive Damage In Heavy Storms

Philadelphia, July 10. (AP)—Eastern Pennsylvania, upper Delaware and northeast Maryland were drenched today by a series of heavy storms, causing floods in various sections and hundreds of thousands of dollars damage.

The storms followed a week of high temperature and excessive humidity.

A landslide due to heavy rain caused the derailment of two trains on the Lehigh Valley railroad near White Haven in the Lehigh Valley. Seven cars of a freight express were derailed by running into the obstruction and a passenger train from Buffalo to Jersey City, coming along a few minutes later, ran into the derailed cars. An express car messenger was slightly injured and some of the passengers shaken up.

There were street floods in Philadelphia and vicinity and in Camden, N. J., but no serious damage was reported.

FIRES OPENING CAMPAIGN GUN

John Wendell Bird Seeks Congressional Seat Held by Person

Lansing, July 10 (AP)—The opening gun was fired today in the 1932 campaign for the Republican nomination for congress from the Sixth Michigan district. John Wendell Bird, serving his second term as prosecuting attorney of Ingham county, announced his candidacy for the nomination.

Coincident with the announcement by Prosecutor Bird came a statement from Congressman Seymour H. Person, of Lansing, that he will be a candidate to succeed himself and there were indications that former Congressman Grant M. Hudson, also of Lansing, will make another fight to regain his seat. The latter is now engaged in church work but his friends say that he will attempt to recapture the nomination from Congressman Person, who defeated him after a spirited race last year.

District Revised

The sixth district under the new reapportionment law will be drastically revised from the area which sent Congressman Person to Washington. It will be comprised of Ingham, Livingston, and Genessee counties. Oakland county and a strip of Wayne, which formerly were in the district, have been lopped off.

Bird's brief announcement said that a skeleton organization had been formed in behalf of his candidacy and that a vigorous campaign will be launched beginning early next year.

With the announcement came reports that friends of Congressman Person are urging him to enter the race for governor in 1932. Congressman Person said he had heard of the report but had not been approached personally. He said the gubernatorial nomination offered no attraction.

Congressman Person is known as a liberal on the prohibition question. Prosecutor Bird has never committed himself publicly on the matter but is regarded as occupying a somewhat middle ground between the Person and Hudson viewpoints.

Investigate Death Of Coronado Woman

Coronado, Cal., July 10 (AP)—Investigation of the death by poison of Mrs. Margaret S. Scudder, wife of former Commander Randolph T. Scudder, marked time tonight while Coroner Chester Gunn awaited a report by the San Diego county chemist.

Chief Ivan Smith of the Coronado police said he had been told by a friend of Mrs. Scudder that the ex-naval officer's wife had seen her husband in Tijuana in the company of another woman. Scudder had been absent from home for eight days, returning last night when informed of his wife's apparent suicide.

Smith said he was told that Scudder was taken to a hospital today.

The coroner said apparently Mrs. Scudder took poison as a result of despondency over her husband's actions.

Negro Killed by Bomb Put In Plant

Birmingham, Ala., July 10 (AP)—An unidentified negro youth was killed and two other persons probably fatally injured tonight when a bomb was tossed from an automobile into the plant of the Pure Milk company, in the business section here.

Windows were shattered for almost the entire length of the block and scores of persons were treated for minor cuts caused by flying glass.

The bombing was believed to have been the result of a milk price war here.

DOHERTY SUES KANSAS PAPER; CLAIMS LIBEL

SEEKS $12,000,000 IN DAMAGES FROM "STAR" OWNERS

Kansas City, July 10. (AP)—A $12,000,000 libel suit filed today by Henry L. Doherty, utilities magnate, was met by the Kansas City Star with the statement that the newspaper would not swerve from its campaign "to get fair gas rates for domestic consumers in the cities of Kansas and Missouri."

"The Star does not propose to be intimidated into any letup in its fight to force a reduction of rates to a fair level as determined by the constituted authorities of Kansas and Missouri, the public service commissions," the newspaper said.

"It is common tactics to bring libel suits in order to bluff off aggressive newspapers that are fighting the public's battles."

Charges Libel.

Doherty, head of the Cities Service company which through various subsidiaries supplies natural gas to Kansas City and other municipalities of Missouri and Kansas, alleged the Star had libeled him personally in a series of articles attacking rates and methods of his companies.

In addition to today's $12,000,000 suit, Doherty's representatives here said other damage actions would be brought against the Star.

The nature of the forthcoming litigation was not disclosed, but Doherty announced in New York several days ago he had instructed his attorneys to seek damages in behalf of the stockholders of the Cities Service company.

Stop Stock Sales.

Sale of the company's curb stock, except the first preferred, has been ordered stopped in Kansas by the state securities commission and Doherty blamed the Star and Governor Harry Woodring, whom the utilities magnate described as "a tool" of the Star.

The libel suit was based on charges published by the Star that Doherty had profited personally from an "engineering and management fee" of 1¾ per cent of the gross revenues of the subsidiary companies collected by the Cities Service company.

Doherty's petition denied that he had received any salary or income from the fees, and said for many years he has received no salary as president of Cities Service or any of its affiliated concerns.

Defended by Reed.

George B. Longan, president; Roy A. Roberts, managing editor, and Fred C. Trigg, Kansas editor, all members of the board of directors of the Kansas City Star company, were named as defendants. The Star is owned entirely by members of the staff, who purchased it after the death of Laura Nelson Kirkwood, daughter of William Rockhill Nelson, the founder.

In anticipation of the libel suit, the Star retained former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri as counsel in addition to the law firm which represents it regularly.

Suspect Arrested In Truesdale Case

Lima, Ohio, July 10. (AP)—Elmer Hubbard, 33, was taken into custody tonight by officers investigating the deaths of Thelma Woods, 17, and Earl Truesdale, 20, whose battered bodies were found in a water-filled quarry here several weeks ago.

Hubbard, caretaker of the quarry, was placed in the Allen county jail but police declined to reveal what evidence, if any, promted the arrest. His brother Fred also was held for questioning.

Meanwhile, county authorities announced that James May, 22, arrested on a warrant charging him with the murder of Truesdale, had virtually convinced them of his innocence and that he probably would be released tomorrow.

Anthony Fokker Resigns His Post

New York, July 10. (AP)—The trend away from use of wood in airplane manufacture today was emphasized by the resignation of one of its chief exponents from General Navigation Corporation and Fokker Aircraft Corporation of America.

Anthony H. G. Fokker, director engineer of the two companies since their formation, stepped aside today into comparative retirement. It was believed his successor would be Herbert V. Thaden of Pittsburgh, acting chief engineer and general manager of Fokker Aircraft. He is a specialist in all metal airplane construction. Fokker has clung to the use of wood as most desirable for certain airplane parts.

ICC Has New Valuation of Railroad Property to Use at Rate Hearing

Washington, July 10 (AP)—When the railroads come before the interstate commerce commission next Wednesday for hearing on their 15 per cent rate increase plea they will find that body in possession of a new valuation of their property on the basis of 1930 price levels.

While the total figure will be based on the lower prices which prevailed last year, it will not necessarily be lower than the figure used by the commission in its 1920 rate increase action or in later cases.

Accurate Figures

Additions to the properties, betterments and other items increasing net values have to be considered. But the commission will have an approximately accurate figure on which to judge the plea.

Immediately after the petition was received the commission ordered revaluation of every railroad in the country on 1930 price levels. Vacations and annual leaves of employes were cancelled to compile the statistics.

If the procedure followed in other cases is maintained, the valuations will be on the basis of rate making groups. In 1920 the railroads claimed a value of $9,038,194,615 for the lines in the eastern group; $2,183,923,124 for the southern group and $8,818,454,872 for western railroads. The commission declined to take these figures as a rate making basis and fixed its own figures as $8,800,000,000 for the eastern group; $2,000,000,000 for southern lines, and $8,100,000,000 for the western railroads.

Flood of Opposition

Commissioners Lee, Meyer and Lewis will be assisted by Examiners Disque, Hosmer, and Mattingly in handling the rate increase hearings for the commission. With them will sit seven representatives of state commissions selected by rate making divisions.

The first hearings are to be devoted to presentation of the case of the railroads, and are expected to last a week or more.

The flood of opposition led by agricultural interests will begin August 31. The commission has asked all persons wishing to appear to file formal notice by July 20.

JUDGE TO RULE ON FALL TODAY

Will Decide if Former Cabinet Officer Must Go to Jail

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Justice Bailey of the District of Columbia supreme court will decide tomorrow whether Albert B. Fall's next year must be spent in jail.

He will rule on the government's request for immediate execution of the one-year sentence given the former secretary of the interior for bribery in the oil lease cases. Fall's attorney, Frank Hogan, has moved a suspension because of his client's physical condition.

Fall's physicians have said he was unable to come to Washington for a year's imprisonment, and Hogan contended it would probably shorten his life.

However, Bailey also has under advisement a memorandum presented by Atlee Pomerene, special prosecutor, on behalf of Assistant General Youngquist, expressing the opinion Fall could be sent to a jail outside the district. Pomerene suggested confinement at El Paso.

Besides determining this question, Bailey will also rule on his authority to suspend sentence in Fall's absence from Washington.

Petition Requests Court Reconsider Chain Store Levies

Washington, July 10 (AP)—A new effort in behalf of chain stores to prevent states from imposing special taxes on them was made today in a petition that the supreme court reconsider its recent 5 to 4 decision sustaining the Indiana chain stores tax.

The decision, the petition said, establishes a new and "dangerous principle which strikes at the future progress and growth of American business, wholesale and retail."

Its far reaching consequences were not fully appreciated or forseen by the court, it added, asserting that the decision had placed no limitation on the power of states to increase the amount of taxation on the owners of chain stores to an "oppressive" extent and "to the point of destruction."

England Acts On Debts Moratorium

London, July 10. (AP)—Great Britain today took decisive action to put the Hoover moratorium into effect, so far as she is concerned, by informing the bank for international settlements that she would not expect payment of the German reparations installment due on July 15.

It is now up to the bank to notify Germany of the British action.

The letter to the bank says the step was taken on the ground that collection of the installment due next Wednesday, even if Germany were able to pay, would be "manifestly inconsistent with acceptance in principle of President Hoover's proposal."

Bankers Syndicate Is Being Organized To Help Detroit

Detroit, July 10 (AP)—Organization of a syndicate of bankers and industrialists to lend Detroit $59,500,000 with which to meet short term obligations coming due by Sept. 15 was under way tonight.

The plans for the syndicate were announced by City Controller G. Hall Roosevelt who said industrial units in the group would be the Fisher Finance corporation the Chrysler Motor corporation and the Packard Motor Car company. He said the Ford Motor company also might enter the syndicate.

Controller Roosevelt said the banks were working out the details of the syndicate. He said the loan would be conditional upon the city bringing about certain economies in governmental costs and upon the manner in which taxpayers meet their obligations commencing July 15.

Hoover and Party Leave for Rapidan

Washington, July 10. (AP)—President and Mrs. Hoover left for the Rapidan camp in Virginia late today with Vice President Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Gann as their guests.

Others in the party were Secretary and Mrs. Lamont, acting Secretary Castle of the state department and Mrs. Castle; Seth Richardson, Assistant Attorney General, and Mrs. Richardson; Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce; Allan Fox of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Healey. Healey is Washington correspondent for the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Dr. Joel L. Boone, the White House physician, also accompanied the party.

Norma Talmadge Leaves for Home

Honolulu, July 10. (AP)—Miss Norma Talmadge, screen actress, left today on the Japanese liner Chichibu Maru for San Francisco on receiving word her mother was seriously ill at Beverly Hills, Calif.

In her haste to reach her mother's bedside, Miss Talmadge paid the $200 fine imposed on foreign registered boats for carrying passengers between American ports.

Baltimore Twins Doing Well; Second Operation Postponed

Baltimore, July 10. (AP)—Search of medical records today failed to disclose a parallel to the case of the conjoined twin girls separated shortly after the birth here three days ago by a daring surgical operation.

The children, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Forster, of Baltimore, were "doing so well" today that a second surgical operation, considered necessary to save their lives, was postponed for a week or ten days or until a definite change in their condition takes place.

Dr. Clyde Golley, who was in charge when the twins were born, said he knew of no successful operation on true so-called Siamese twins and that Johns Hopkins hospital obstetricians could find records of no successful cases.

Physicians and surgeons expressed the opinion that the second operation would be a medical miracle if successful.

The twins, who weight four and a half pounds each and were otherwise normal, were born without colons. The twins have stomachs and small intestines and though human life is possible without a colon, the second operation is considered necessary to provide a normal outlet for body poisons.

AMERICA WILL COOPERATE AT ARMS PARLEY

UNITED STATES TO BE REPRESENTED AT GENEVA

Washington, July 10 (AP)—America added active impetus to the world disarmament movement tonight by wholeheartedly accepting a formal invitation to attend the League of Nations general disarmament conference next February.

On instructions of President Hoover, the American government dispatched a note to the secretary general of the league, indicating full participation by the United States and complete cooperation with the movement.

Accepts Invitation

The note was signed by Acting Secretary Castle of the state department and was communicated to the league by Hugh R. Wilson, American minister to Switzerland.

"The acting secretary of state of the United States of America has received," the acceptance read, "the note of the secretary general of the League of Nations dated June 31, 1931, in which, pursuant to a resolution of the council adopted on May 22, he extended an invitation to the American government to participate in the general disarmament conference to be convened at Geneva February 2, 1932.

"The American government is happy to accept this invitation and welcomes the opportunity fo. cooperating with the other nations in a common effort to reduce the menace and to lighten the burden of armaments under which the world is suffering."

Kellogg Chief?

The note reflected the attitude of the American government toward the disarmament question as repeated several times recently by President Hoover in pressing forward his plan for a one year's moratorium on war debts and reparations payments.

Secretary Stimson is now in Europe discussing the problem with the interested governments.

Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state and now justice of the World Court, has been mentioned as a possible chief of the American delegation. Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium and close friend of the president, probably will be selected for a post on the delegation, officials said.

Gibson represented the United States at the preliminary sessions which led to the calling of the conference.

State Department Regrets Arrest of Consul In Chicago

Washington, July 10. (AP)—The American government today, for the second time in a month, formally expressed regret to Mexico for the treatment of Mexicans in this country.

The state department delivered a note to Ambassador Tellez expressing official regret over the arrest in Chicago for contempt of court of Adolfo G. Dominguez, acting Mexican consul.

Tellez yesterday submitted a formal protest. The reply was prepared after the state department had received a report from Governor Emmerson, of Illinois, that the charge against Dominguez had been expunged from the record.

Bandit Killed, Two Caught In Robbery

Friendship, Tenn., July 10. (AP)—Police officers who concealed themselves in the Bank of Friendship as the result of a warning that the bank was to be robbed today shot to death one alleged bandit and wounded and captured his two companions.

The slain man was identified as Claude McCleish, 55, Haywood county. The others gave their names as Carl Butler, 30, Dyersburg, Tenn., Deward Mullin, 40, Haywood county.

Workers Recover Bodies Of Youths

Fostoria, Ohio, July 10 (AP)—Hours of frantic search by their parents ended late today when workmen dug the bodies of Warren James Sherman, 10, and Malcolm Kelly, 11, from several feet of sand in a foundry sand shed where they had been buried alive in a cave-in during play.

Their bodies were found with arms entwined. Search was started at noon when the boys failed to appear for luncheon.

CONSUL RELEASED

Adolfo Dominguez (above), acting Mexican consul in Chicago, was released on his own recognizance after his arrest for alleged contempt of court caused an investigation by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson of Illinois. The case was later quashed by the judge who cited him for contempt.

YOUTH DRUGGED, BURNED IN BED

New York Boy in Serious Condition After Brutal Crime

New York, July 10 (AP)—A youth who staggered, critically burned, into a Bronx filling station today set in motion a police investigation of a crime they described as one of the most brutal in recent annals.

The victim, Spencer Fox, 21, related a story of having been lured to a cottage, drugged and set afire in bed. Before lapsing into unconsciousness he cried:

"They're after me! They tortured me because I wanted to tell the truth!"

Fox's condition t scribed at a hospital as ser. Detectives were at work on several theories, one of which concerned a statement of the youth made to employes of the gas station, that he had been set afire in a bungalow of Louis Raffi, a married man with three children, who had not been located.

Raffi, according to Fox's statements, agreed to hire him as a soda dispencer at $50 a month, room and board. The Raffi bungalow is a half mile from the filling station where Fox collapsed. Physicians said the flesh was virtually all burned off the boy's arms and legs and they couldn't see how he walked that distance.

Firemen put out the blaze in the Raffi house. The fire was confined to two bedrooms. Assistant Fire Marshall John J. Cashman said he found strips of blankets apparently soaked with kerosene, laid about the rooms and overcoats and blankets nailed over the windows.

Police said Raffi and Fox were of about the same build and that Raffi carried an insurance policy of $2,500 with double indemnity in case of accidental death.

Post and Gatty Get Another Reception

Oklahoma City, July 10 (AP)—This capital city, where Wiley Post and Harold Gatty laid plans for their record flight around the world, paid tribute to the fliers today with a noisy welcome that lasted into the night.

Arriving here by air this morning from Chickasha, where yesterday the state's initial welcome was accorded the fliers and their backer, F. C. Hall, wealthy oil man, Post and Gatty stepped into the arms of a crowd of "homefolks" for a round of festivities and receptions, ending in a banquet tonight.

Before they joined a parade through the city, the airmen were notified by Governor W. H. Murray that he had made them colonels on his staff.

Robber Gets Term Of 2 to 5 Years

Detroit, July 10 (AP)—Theodore Crowley, one of the two men who robbed the city treasurer's office of $28,000 in cash and checks last April 20, was sentenced to from two to five years in the Michigan State prison at Jackson by Recorder's Judge John P. Scallen today.

Crowley was convicted two weeks ago but sentence was deferred while officers tried to learn what became of $3,032 in cash and the second man in the robbery. The officers recovered $25,000 in checks

LUTHER ASKS MORE CREDIT FROM FRANCE

POLITICAL GUARANTEES REQUESTED, REPORT SAYS

Paris, July 10 (AP)—Hans Luther, president of the German Reichsbank, spent this whole day going back and forth between the Bank of France and the finance ministry seeking French participation in a $400,000,000 loan to Germany.

For nearly three hours he talked with Clement Moret, governor of the Bank of France, then he conferred with Pierre Flandin, minister of finance, had luncheon with half a dozen financiers and wound up the day in conference with Priemer Laval.

Tonight he was to fly back to Berlin to consult the cabinet and on Monday he will be at Basel for a meeting of the directors of the Bank for International Settlements.

What Luther Seeks

He was uncommunicative today as he was in London yesterday but it was understood that he is seeking first advances equivalent to the sums by which Germany's budget will be lightened under the Hoover moratorium, amounting to about $385,000,000, which would be repaid in monthly installments; second, he wants a renewal of the $100,000,000 one-month loan made by the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Federal Reserve Bank of the United States and the World Bank at Basel, which falls due next Thursday; third, he would like to extend that loan and increase it by $200,000,000 and fourth, he is said to seek a one or two-year loan of $400,000,000 for the Gold Discount Bank of Germany.

Grave Situation

Berlin, July 10 (AP)—Official Germany is making no attempt to conceal the gravity of the situation which has developed from Hans Luther's visit to Paris where, according to reports reaching here, the French imposed political conditions upon the granting of a loan to the Reichsbank.

Chancellor Bruening's office was a bee hive today as conferences with bankers, industrial heads and political leaders, including United States Ambassador Sackett, followed each other in Rapid succession.

The political opposition is known to be watching its opportunity and there is a feeling that only a good excuse is needed to provoke a political upheaval. No better excuse could be found, the government is afraid, than surrender by Chancellor Bruening to political pressure from France.

Hitherto the chancellor has been able to hold out against the nationalists because politics had

Urges Nationwide Moratorium on Rent

New York, July 10 (AP)—A nationwide moratorium during which rents, installment payments, mortgage payments and insurance premiums would be suspended was proposed by Benjamin Marsh, secretary of the People's Lobby, of Washington in an address at a luncheon of the Civic Club here today.

The moratorium could and should be brought about by the concerted demands of the American people, Mr. Marsh said.

Germany's threat to suspend debt payments and cause a world-wide financial disaster motivated President Hoover in asking a moratorium and the American people should adopt the same tactics, Mr. Marsh declared.

Lansing City Power Plant Shows Profit

Lansing, July 10 (AP)—An audit of the books of the city of Lansing shows a profit of $800,000 last year for the municipally owned electric light and water plant. The plant's business was valued at $15,000,000.

HOOVER SCORES SHORT SELLING

Speculators Responsible for Low Wheat Price, Says President

Washington, July 10. (AP)—Into the growing controversy over government wheat policies, President Hoover tonight hurled a vigorous condemnation of short sales by speculators.

Such activities, he said, have but one purpose, and that is to depress prices. In addition they rob the farmer of his rightful income, the president added, and tend to destroy returning public confidence.

His denunciation was addressed to a "limited number of speculators" and not intended to refer to legitimate hedging operations.

Numerous Requests.

The chief executive's statement followed repeated requests that the farm board hold off the market the 200,000,000 bushels of wheat acquired to steady prices. Just previous to its issuance the agriculture department reported a bumper wheat crop of 869,000,000 bushels was in prospect for this year.

Mr. Hoover issued his statement at the regular conference with newspaper correspondents.

The farm board has been flooded with requests in recent months that its wheat holdings be kept off the market for a stipulated period or until the price reaches a stipulated figure.

These have come from farm organizations members of congress, including such Republican regulars as Vice President Curtis, Senator Watson, the party leader and Senator Capper of Kansas.

Reconsider Policy.

Protest against a policy of selling the grain whenever market conditions favored, brought a suggestion from President Hoover that the board reconsider its policy.

This it did, announcing not more than 5,000,000 bushels would be sold in any one month exclusive of foreign sales then under consideration.

Prices of the Chicago market have dipped close to the fifty-cent mark, influenced by heavy movements of the new crop and lack of export demand. Reports of a prospective world production drop and North American drought conditions have attracted little support.

Commissioner Gives Vacationists Hints; How to Enjoy Trips

Detroit. (AP)—"Don'ts" and "do's" for vacationists who desire to get the most out of their annual two weeks of freedom from office or shop have been issued by Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, commissioner of health.

Some of Dr. Vaughan's "do's" follow:

Make your vacation just as different from the ordinary routine of life as possible. The sedentary worker probably needs a vacation which will provide outdoor exercise plus opportunity for mental relaxation. The person whose labor involves physical effort needs a vacation which will provide bodily rest and relaxation.

Be careful about the purity of things you eat.

If you have important business connections, go far enough away so that you cannot be worried about your affairs by messages, telephone calls and visits.

Some of the doctor's "don'ts" are:

Don't drink water or milk without first knowing that it is pure and sanitary. If you are not sure, boil both water and milk.

Don't eat too much. If being outdoors increases your appetite, curb it at first, and gradually increase the amount you eat.

Don't drink large quantities of water. When drinking water that is "strange" to you, it is best to drink only a small amount at first, gradually increasing the amount each day.

Don't let the small baby drink water until it is boiled and cooled.

Don't get sunburned; but get all the fresh air and sunlight you can.

Don't go in bathing for at least an hour and a half after eating, preferably two hours.

If you are camping, don't choose a low lying spot.

Don't forget to observe traffic regulations, wherever you are, and don't forget to carry a first aid emergency kit.

Prosecution By Ballot

When the Board of Guardians of Lurgan, Northern Ireland, recently decided to prosecute, as a test, five offenders of the vaccination law, it was found that 60 had been charged with refusing to be vaccinated. Despite protests that they were using chance to enforce the law, the officials placed the names of all offenders in a hat, and the first five drawn were prosecuted.

Blood Drawn Off, Reinjected

Drawing a patient's blood from his body, purifying it and returning it, has been accomplished successfully in European countries. This was the declaration recently of Dr. Raoul Blondel, French medical authority. The process was devised by Haas, the German surgeon, for the treatments of patients with kidney defects and other diseases causing impurities in the blood. Nearly a pint of blood is extracted from the patient and passed through a permeable tube of collodion, immersed in a saline solution, to purify it. Then the purified blood is reinjected into the patient.

His Wife Is No Tall Problem

One husband who never complains when his wife gets a new gown is H. C. Vaughn, of Tarrant City, Ala., because it takes only two yards of material to make one. Six feet tall, Vaughn is shown here with his 46-inch-high wife outside the house they both helped build.

Robbins and Jones Begin Laying Plans For Another Flight

Nome, Alaska, July 10 (AP)—Storm bound here after the failure yesterday of their attempt to complete a non-stop flight from Seattle to Tokyo, Reg. L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones, Texan aviators, were resting today and planning another try.

A few hours after they landed their white monoplane Fort Worth on the beach at Solomon, 30 miles west of here, almost half the way to Tokyo, rains, fog and winds, which contributed to the forced abandonment of the flight, shut in around Nome and stopped all flying.

Weather conditions were even worse today and no improvement was expected for 24 or 36 hours.

Although downcast over the sudden dashing of their hopes yesterday, the fliers, who came here from Solomon with their refueling crew three hours after the forced landing, immediately began laying plans for a second attempt.

Rebuilt Cars are Sometimes Unsafe; Agencies Warned

Lansing, Mich.—Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald this week asked all branch offices issuing auto license plates to inspect carefully all cars which are being assembled from parts of one or more junked automobiles. The branch offices were asked to make certain that the assembled cars were safe for use on the highways.

Records of the department of state show that titles are being sought on about 10 rebuilt cars each week. In some cases the assembled cars contain parts from as many as five other automobiles. It is not the desire of the department to prevent any person from building an automobile, Mr. Fitzgerald said, but rather to make sure that the car, after assembled, will not be a menace to the owner and other motorists.

University Summer Rosters Increased

Ann Arbor. (AP)—University of Michigan enrollment figures for the fiscal year 1930-31, ending July 1, announced today by the registrar's office, show an increase of 347 over the previous year. There were 15,501 students registered in all departments in 1930-31, compared with 15,154 for the year 1929-30.

Enrollment for the year just closed included 10,107 resident students for the first and second semesters, a slight decrease from the 10,191 enrolled the year before. There were 3,995 students in the 1930 summer session, compared with 3,673 in 1929. Students enrolled in extension courses increased from 2,822 to 3,098. There were 394 extension students taking non-credit courses. These were not counted in the totals.

Women enrolled in the regular sessions of 1930-31 numbered 2,872 or 28.4 per cent of the total. There were 7,235. In the grand total, 5,737, or 37 per cent, were women. There were 9,764 men students in all departments.

LUTHER ASKS MORE CREDIT FROM FRANCE

been kept out of the Hoover plan for Germany's economic rescue. When they found that that plan had been left intact, the opposition was for a time nonplussed.

May Ask U. S. Aid

Now, in the German view, France is insisting upon certain political guarantees which were left out of the Hoover proposal, and the radicals of the political right and left are using this development for their own advantage.

Dr. Luther, who intended to return to Berlin this afternoon, was urged to remain in Paris for further negotiations because the German government feels it has already called upon the United States so often that it would prefer to have Dr. Luther obtain part of the money he needs in France.

Should he fail, however, there is little doubt that Ambassador Sackett once more would be asked to call in the United States.

The newspapers, with practical unanimity, oppose making political concessions to obtain aid from France.

Even Germania, the centrist organ, which generally is regarded as the chancellor's paper, asks where it would lead if every future loan had to be bought not only with interest charges but with political concessions. Paris has shown once again, Germania says, that it cannot with justice claim to play a leading role in intellectual and economic reorganization.

Young Wife Tells Police of Kidnaping

Niles, Mich., July 10 (AP)—Marie Homer, 19, who said she was kidnaped on the outskirts of Chicago by three men in an automobile yesterday, was brought to the police station here tonight by a motorist who found her attempting to hitch-hike her way to Nashville, Mich.

The girl said she was kidnaped by a motorist when her husband left her for a moment yesterday to find shelter from a rainstorm. She said the man drove down the road a short distance where two other men got in the car. They then drove to Indianapolis and stopped in the outskirts of the city for gasoline. The girl said she escaped while at the filling station, walked into Indianapolis and then hitch-hiked her way to South Bend. Today she resumed her journey to Nashville where her husband's parents live. She was picked up near Niles by a motorist and brought to thep olice station.

Star Witness In Probe Kills Self

New York, July 10. (AP)—An hour before he was to have testified today, Traugott F. Keller, star witness in the state's legislative committee investigation into city affairs, committed suicide by jumping beneath the wheels of a subway express.

Keller, chief engineer of the dock department, who had been questioned secretly for three days, was going to "come clean," he had told the investigators.

The whole story of bribes he had received for giving certain companies preferential treatment, and of bribes split with other city employes, he had pledged to lay before the committee.

GUNMEN STAGE SHOOTING FRAY

Five Gangsters Fight in Hospital for Life of Wounded Racketeer

New York, July 10 (AP)—While nurses cowered in fright, five gangsters fought inside a Brooklyn hospital today for the life of "One-Armed Tony" Mongno, wounded beer racketeer.

With luck and numbers on their side, Tony's four friends won and tonight he was alive, survivor of two attempts by foes to kill him.

The lone gunman who invaded the hospital to finish the beer man off was overpowered by Mongno's henchmen and kidnaped in an automobile.

After slipping by guards at the door, he missed the number of the room where Mongno lay recovering from wounds suffered in a bungled attempt to put him on the spot last Tuesday.

Taken for Ride

The desk clerk at Trinity hospital was startled to see a man run into the hospital, bump roughly into a nurse and mount the stairs two at a time. The clerk started telephoning frantically for police when curses split the early morning quiet of the institution.

The first gunman was tossed bodily downstairs and outside, where the other four followed him. A dozen shots rang out and witnesses said they saw the four close in on the lone gangster, throw him into an automobile and speed away.

Tonight police moved Mongno, under heavy guard, to another institution, whose name was kept secret.

Postoffice Given Right to Increase Limits of Packages

Washington, July 10. (AP)—The postoffice department today was given the consent of the interstate commerce commission to increase the size and weight limits of parcel post packages.

The decision will enable shipment by mail of packages up to 70 pounds beyond the third zone and increase the size limits to 100 inches length and girth combined. The previous maximums were 50 pounds and 84 inches.

The postmaster general on November 29, last, asked the consent of the commission as required by the law creating the parcel post for its consent to a revision of parcel post rates and an increase in size and weight of packages.

Large users of parcel post opposed the postage rate changes which amounted to increases through most of the list except on rural routes. The American Railway Express agency opposed the size and weight limit increase on the ground that it would cut into its business.

Jackson, July 10 (AP)—Probate judes of Michigan closed their 1931 meeting here today with election of officers and the selection of Grand Rapids as the 1932 convention city for the association.

Fred A. Wertman, of Flint, was named president of the association of judges; William E. Smith, Mohawk, was named vice president, and Arthur L. Guernsey, Hillsdale, was elected secretary and treasurer.

TOURISTS FAIL TO SEE WORST OF CONDITIONS

something happens soon our community will collapse."

Glashuette is not an isolated case. There are hundreds of German towns in the same predicament. Those in which only one worker out of four is unemployed consider themselves lucky. They are hardly touched by the heavy hand of depression compared with the long list of small industrial towns in which 50 per cent or more of the population lives as well as it can on unempoyment dole or municipal relief.

This is one reason why the nationalist parties headed by Adolf Hitler and Alfred Hugenberg are able to command such great support in their unremitting attacks upon the government.

Even the newspapers which usually support the government have expressed their opposition to buying French aid at the expense of political concessions such as renunciation of the proposed customs accord with Austria.

To help these towns to tide over the present industrial depression is one of the chief hopes of German leaders in utilizing the breathing spell coming from President Hoover's moratorium plan.

Shutdown In Oil Fields Requested

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 10 (AP)—A complete shut-down of production in the huge Oklahoma City oil field was asked by a majority of operators and royalty owners at a meeting here today.

More than 100 oil men, representing virtually every operating and pipe line company in the field, voted to petition Governor W. H. Murray and the state corporation commission to issue an order shutting in all producing wells until crude oil reaches a price of one dollar per barrel.

James Hawley, 82, Of Trenary, Dies

Trenary, July 10 (Special)—James Hawley, 82, oldest settler of Mathias township, passed away this evening at 7:55 o'clock from the effects of paralysis and complications of old age. He was a resident of the township for the past 45 years. For the past six and a half years he was bed ridden caused by a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Hawley is survived by his wife and four children. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Members of B & P W Clubs View Large Historic Pageant

Richmond, Va., July 10 (AP)—Delegates and visitors attending the old dominion convention of the national Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs tonight viewed a pageant entitled "Historic Legends," depicting exploits of women famous in history and donned cotton frocks to attend the Virginia ball which brought to a close sessions of the convention here.

At the concluding business session this afternoon they elected Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, of Richmond, Va., president to succeed Miss Marion McClench, of Ann Arbor, Mich. Miss Earlene White, of Jackson, Miss., and Miss Margaret Stewart of Ogden, Utah, were re-elected to their offices of recording secretary and treasurer, respectively. Other officers chosen yere: Mrs. Helen M. Schluraff, of Erie, Pa., first vice president; Mrs. Bonnie K. Robertson, of Hammond, Ind., second vice president, and Miss Margaret K. Stewart of Phoenix, Ariz., corresponding secretary.

Federal Convicts Enjoying Luxuries, Newspaper Claims

New York, July 10. (AP)—The Sun today said that 250 swindlers, smugglers, bootleggers and other federal felons, sentenced to the Atlanta penitentiary, are housed in barracks at Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, enjoying comparative luxuries they procured by improper money payments.

The newspaper said the convicts are lodged in quarters formerly used by army officers, obtaining them by "payments to persons in authority for transfers from Atlanta."

An investigation of the condition is in progress.

There are no cells in the Fort Wadsworth barracks, no bars on the windows and no sign of a prison except the uniformed civilian guards. Work is practically unknown.

The grounds overlook the narrows, through which ships pass as they come and go in the New York port. At night the strains of dance music floats over the water from Midland beach amusement park, the paper says, to lull the prisoners to slumber.

Charge Cammarata With Illegal Entry

Jackson, Mich., July 10 (AP)—Sheriff Thomas Lovitt said tonight Frank Cammarata, Detroit gangster now serving 15 to 30 years in Michigan State prison for bank robbery, will be taken into custody and held for federal immigration authorities whenever he furnishes $40,000 bond set by Judge Walter H. North, of Lansing, for his release pending an appeal to the Michigan supreme court.

According to Sheriff Lovitt, immigration authorities at Detroit accuse the gangster of illegal entry into the United States, and will attempt to deport him.

Nine Planes Remain In National Tour

Memphis, Tenn., July 10. (AP)—The nine remaining planes in the national air tour reached Memphis late today on their swing through the south.

One hour and twenty minutes after taking off from Sky Harbor, near Nashville, James H. Smart, of Pine Bluff, Ark., landed his tri-motored plane at the municipal airport to lead the field in the final flight of the day.

Smart arrived at 3:25 p. m. Harry Russell of Dearborn, Mich., so far the leading point maker, also piloting a tri-motored plane, slipped into port three minutes later. A tiny Gee-Bee, with Lowell R. Bayles of Sprinkfield, Mass., at the controls, was two minutes behind Russell.

Number of Detroit Dole Recipients Will Be Reduced

Detroit, July 10. (AP)—Ordered by the council to effect drastic economies in the city's relief work, the department of public welfare tonight was preparing to eliminate 7,500 families from the municipal dole lists.

The move to reduce the number of dole recipients was taken today by Thomas E. Dalon, superintendent of the welfare department, who sent orders to all district offices. As a further economy measure the Fisher lodge for homeless unemployed men was closed permanently tonight and the 850 inmates invited to seek shelter at the county infirmary at Eloise.

The reduction in the number of dole recipients and the closing of the municipal lodge is a result of the council's decision to limit the welfare department's expenditures to $7,000,000 for the present fiscal year. There are approximately 30,000 families now receiving welfare aid.

Japan's population is now estimated at 63,000,000.

"OLD IRONSIDES"

EVEN if the Constitution has not been a famous warship by reason of her victories on the high seas, she would be worth preserving just as a memento of vanished days—a memento of the time when wood and canvas were supreme at sea and Yankee shipbuilders were among the best on earth.

The re-conditioning of the old frigate and her present voyage along the Atlantic coast stir abundant memories. Even if not more than 15 per cent of the original ship remains in existence, the Constitution is a magnificent object lesson of the way the old New England shipbuilders were able to combine beauty and utility in one vessel.

The debt that the nation as a whole owes to those old craftsmen and designers is not sufficiently appreciated. The Constitution was only one of many great ships that were fashioned in New England a century and more ago. A few were warships; more were merchantmen—swift, sturdy and seaworthy, built for long voyages, destined to carry the American flag all over the globe and give American trade a stimulus that helped make possible the conquest of the continent.

Many of the great fortunes of New England came from overseas trade. The money thus accumulated served, later on, as capital to develop the west. Gold reserves that piled up through the enterprise of the shippers helped to build western railroads, exploit western mines and establish western factories. The opening of the interior of America would have been a much slower process if it had not been for the shipbuilders of Maine and Massachusetts.

Today "Old Ironsides" goes to sea again; and as she rides the waves she serves as a living reminder of a bright period in American history.

A NEW CAMPAIGN NEEDED

ONCE again it has become apparent that the people of the United States are not able to celebrate a national holiday without killing themselves by the score. As the din of the Fourth of July noisemakers dies down it is revealed that 354 Americans lost their lives during the holiday.

Oddly enough, only eight were killed by fireworks. Years of campaigning for a "safe and sane Fourth" seem to have had their effect. Dangerous explosives are not used as much as formerly, and those that are used are handled with more caution.

But what is the net gain, when motor traffic and the bathing beaches take enough of a toll to wie out all of the savings? We seem to have learned how to handle firecrackers only to discover that we do not yet know how to handle automobiles. Growing more careful in one field, we have also grown more careless in another.

Evidently the "safe and sane" campaigns need to be broadened and extended very considerably.

GOOD EXAMPLE

ONE of the states that has pioneered in many ways toward the improvement of highways and of traffic is Connecticut. The state's latest liberal venture is a law prohibiting over-crowding the driver's seat. Another is a law intended to govern hitch-hiking so that the more annoying and dangerous instances of thumbing for rides be stopped.

Here are two examples of lawmaking that are to be recommended to the legislatures of all the other states in the union. Both have the same basis of reasoning. Both are safety ideas.

Many instances have occurred of accidents in which it has been found the driver's seat of the car concerned was jammed with passengers so that, in the emergency, the driver was unable to manipulate his controls quickly and effectively.

Many instances can be cited also of hitch-hikers who place themselves so openly on the highways as to make an accident almost unavoidable, especially when two cars happen to be passing at the same point. There are many other arguments against hitch-hiking, or offering rides to hitch-hikers, but it is obvious that the safety idea prompted the Connecticut law against this blatant American habit.

Crowding the driver's seat also leads to other more dangerous practices, such as riding the running board and tempting the driver to do things with his car that, under ordinary conditions, he would never dare.

Connecticut, therefore, is to be commended for its determination to check these glaring cases of disregard for the safety of others. It is hoped that the other states will follow its example.

"Matrimony," says Peggy Hopkins Joyce, "is a serious business," a business which, she will agree, sometimes pays handsome dividends.

Some presidents have dams named after them; others are just damned.

HARDEN SUPPRESSED

On July 11, 1917, Die Zukunft, magazine operated by Maxmilian Harden, noted German writer, was suppressed, and Herr Harden was drafted under the auxiliary civil service law to be employed as a military clerk.

The publication was suppressed because of the critical comments made in it of high officials. Extracts from the article which caused the suppression follow:

"Herr von Bethmann is like neither Buddha nor a preacher in the mountains. He who hopes for his world to be saved by heavy guns, poisoned gas, mines, flame throwers, submarines and air bombs must do without a reputation for sublime humanity.

"Are they (Germany's rulers) allowed by slandering an enemy who is not yet ready to conclude peace and by insisting all too loudly upon their deep belief in the nearness of peace, to nourish the mad but damaging belief that Germany is more weary than the league of her enemies? . . . Must we not demand that before they choose new weapons . . . they shall think out to the end every possible effect—not merely the effect which is desired by the commander in the field?"

HEART of LIANE

(By NEA Service) By MABEL McELLIOTT

CHAPTER XIV

THERE it was in black and white. Nora had left the morning paper beside Liane's breakfast tray. She read: "Mr. and Mrs. John Fenton Ladd of this city and Willow Stream, L. I., announce the engagement of their daughter, Muriel Norton Ladd, to Mr. James Van Dusen Robard, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Creighton Robard of New York and Newport. The ceremony will take place—"

Liane saw no more. Blindly she pushed the paper from her, began automatically to pour her coffee. This morning the luxury of the breakfast rite failed to please her. Van Robard and Muriel! She just didn't believe it. It was stupid. There was no meaning in it. Elsie had said Van Robard was in love with Muriel's mother. Oh, it was a crooked, strange and topsy turvy world!

Why then had he said, "Sweet child, I had to come back to see you"? Was that just a "line," the sort of thing he said to every woman? Oh, what a fool she was even to give him a moment's thought. Cruel, cruel, that's what he was. Cruel and conscienceless. And yet, he didn't look like that sort. There was something fine about his darkly lowering face.

"You've got to stop this nonsense," Liane told her image in the mirror. Indeed she looked ghost-like this lovely, misty morning. There were black circles under her eyes. Her clear skin had a pallid, lifeless look.

"Why did he come here?" she asked herself as she dressed. Why, indeed? The whole thing mystified her. It was like a picture puzzle with one of the pieces missing.

The Ladds, she had heard, had closed their house and gone back to town. Why had he come to Willow Stream on the eve of the announcement of his engagement? It was all crazy and muddle-headed. She couldn't figure it out.

As she opened her door she almost collided with the parlor maid who carried a yellow envelope on a tray. "For you, miss," gasped the girl fluttering with excitement.

Liane's heart stood still. She tore the ominous thing open. Her eyes raced over the lines.

"Mother has pneumonia. Better come. St. Anselm's Hospital, Philadelphia. Elsie."

Liane uttered one small, stifled cry. "Oh, my dear, I should never have left you!"

The maid stared. "Is there anything I can do, Miss Barrett?"

"Yes—no—I don't know. Is Mrs. Cleespaugh up yet?"

"She do be havin' her breakfast along about this time."

Liane said, "I hate to disturb her but I must."

Trembling, she knocked on the door. The commanding voice bade her enter. Mrs. Cleespaugh, lorgnette perched precariously on the bridge of her majestic nose, sat up in her splendid four-poster, reading her letters. Frills of lilac-colored chiffon, her bed jacket, streamed around her. Her hair was already splendidly dressed. One could not imagine her in disorder.

* * *

WITHOUT a word the young girl put the message into Mrs. Cleespaugh's hands.

"Oh, my dear child, I am frightfully sorry. Of course, you'll want to go. Where is Clive? Can he see about trains? Van is going in this morning. He can look after you as far as the city. I hate letting you travel by yourself but there's nothing else to do."

Liane said yes, she had money. Yes, she could arrange everything.

"Nonsense," said the old lady briskly. "I'm writing you a check for $200. You can pay me back any time." She waved away the girl's thanks.

Reaching for the house telephone she called Clive's room.

"He's gone, of course," she murmured disgustedly. "You'll find him down at the stables, no doubt. He was talking to Kelly about having the vet in this morning at 10. Try him there."

Liane flew. She found Clive in consultation with a sandy man in baggy gray clothes. Clive turned to greet her, excused himself. Liane explained quickly, briefly. She was afraid she might be going to cry.

Instantly the young man was all sympathy. He said to the veterinary, "Look, Miles, I've got something frightfully important to attend to. This can go over until tomorrow? Right. I'll see you then. About the same time."

He walked back to the house with her, talking of tickets, schedules. She was grateful for his matter-of-fact air. It helped her to keep from breaking down. If she let herself go—if she thought of her mother, lying ill in that lonely hospital room, she would not be able to go on.

Was she the same girl who had been worrying, a few hours before, because a mere man had caused her pain? What did all that matter? How foolish it seemed now! All that mattered in the wide world was her brave, tired mother, ill in a strange city.

As in a dream Liane packed a bag. She got into her brown tweed dress, put on her old brown felt. What did it matter how she looked?

In the great hall downstairs, she saw a tall figure looming. It was Van. Obviously he was waiting to see her.

He said he was sorry. Was there anything at all he could do? Lifelessly the girl said no. Nora came down with her bag. Kelly had brought the car round, she informed them. Was Mr. Clive outside?

There seemed nothing for Van to do but hand her into the car. Clive was driving the roadster. Kelly, red-faced and solemn, put the bag into the rumble seat and touched his cap.

"I said goodby to your mother," Liane said vaguely. The car moved. She knew, dimly, that Van had touched her hand, had looked at her with what might have been profound sympathy. She didn't quite know or care what he had said in parting. All that was past.

Clive drove swiftly and surely. They were soon in the Motor Parkway where speed was the expected thing. "You can get the 12 o'clock," he shouted to her above the roar. "No difficulty at all."

* * *

SHE never knew later how she had got through that dreadful day. She had a confused impression of the big, busy station, of a porter who took her things. Of Clive saying swiftly, competently, "I'll park this and find you at the gate. I'll get your ticket. Don't bother about anything."

She remembered waiting at the steps. Busy people, casual and happy people, milled around her. A family party, a pretty mother and a coal black nurse guarding the pink-coated baby. How safe and sure they all were! Trouble did not seem to touch any of them.

"I'll come along if you want me," Clive offered shyly as he established her in her chair.

Liane was shaken out of her apathy at this. "Oh, no, no, thanks. You're awfully kind," she told him. She didn't need anyone.

She saw his kind, troubled face in that last moment before the train began slowly to move. She even raised her hand to salute him.

Liane's eyes filled with tears. People were good, she thought dully. It was only when you were in trouble that you found that out.

The short journey seemed interminable. Clive had wired Elsie the time of her arrival but there was no one waiting in the dismal station. She gave the cabman the address of the hospital and then sat staring through the window at the unfamiliar streets.

At the information desk a starched young woman with a detached air told her Mrs. Barrett was in 402. No change, she added. The words chilled Liane. Her heart was full to bursting as she rode up in the creaky, antiseptic smelling elevator. The man looked at her with a faint curiosity. He was accustomed to pallid visitors with terror in their eyes but this one was so young—so alone.

A strange Elsie waited outside the door of Cass' room, an Elsie pale and ser'ous. "Glad you've come, kid," she whispered: "Can't go in right now. The doctor's there."

The throbbing of Liane's heart was thunderous. She reached for something to steady herself.

Tell me—" she began, "just how bad—" She couldn't go on. Elsie shook her head. "They don't know just when the crisis will come," she said. "Tonight, they think. We thought it was just a cold. She'd been struggling along with it, didn't want to mention it to you. Yesterday morning the doctor said it was pneumonia. He hurried her over here so she'd get the best care. Hope it was the right thing to do."

Her bright eyes sought Liane's anxiously.

"Oh, I know you've been doing everything possible," Liane began hoarsely. Both girls fell silent, watching the door. The nurse came out, gave Liane an impersonal glance, and hurried down the hall.

As in a trance the watchers followed her movements with their eyes. She returned in a moment with a hypodermic needle on a tray.

"Just a minute, honey," Elsie reassured the trembling Liane. "Dr. Lane'll be out and you can talk to him. Don't go all to pieces now. We'll need you. It'll buck Cass up just to see you."

The knob of the door began to turn. Like one searching the face of the omnipotent for a sign of relenting, the two girls gazed at the iron gray man who emerged.

"How is she?" gasped Liane.

Slowly the man shook his head. "Not too bad" His tone held a professional cheerfulness, meaningless, more terrifying than gloom. The girl felt he had spoken thus to a dozen anxious watchers.

"May I go in to see her now?" His look probed her. "If you'll promise not to disturb her—"

She staunchly promised. She would not allow one tear to flow.

* * *

The still figure on the bed moved ever so slightly. There was a low moan and the nurse moved swiftly to her patient's side. Alert she stood there, then turned, finger on lip, to sign the watcher with her to silence.

"Just the same," she murmured. Liane looked up quickly hopefully, at the movement. But at the nurse's words the girl's pallor deepened. She settled again in her chair, her eyes never leaving the quiet figure under the coverlet. Cass was quiet now. Before she had been delirious and that had been awful.

"She mustn't die—she won't die—she can't!" This Liane repeated over and over to herself as if it were a magic litany to chain Cass' spirit.

"She mustn't! She won't!"

Thus the girl had prayed, had hoped, all the long day. She had been at the hospital for three days, now, and the awaited crisis failed to arrive. At night she dreaded going with Elsie back to the hotel. She lay, long hours, in the darkness, every nerve straining for the telephone message she felt sure would come. In the dawn she would rise, with shaking fingers dash the icy water into her red-rimmed eyes. Exhausted, she would dress, wait for the hour when she might creep to her mother's side.

It was all terrible, terrible! She had not known before what anguish could be.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

(Copyright 1931 by Douglas Malloch)

A LITTLE WHILE

A long, long time is soon a little while,
And every footstep makes a shorter mile.
If we would think in days instead of years,
Yes, even minutes as each day appears,
No time would then be long, or journey far.
Whatever are our days, how few they are!

So step by step I try to walk my way,
Accept my sorrow, and with joy be gay.
Each day is shorter as the sun ascends,
And never yet a journey but it ends.
I try to live each minute more and more,
Climb hills when I come to them, not before.

And so each mile has roses here and there,
Then, if the journey's long, I do not care.
And so each minute has some beauty in,
Some treasure that I need not wait to win.
Wait not for tardy time some gift to give—
How much there is in life if life we live!

'Looking Backward'

July 12, 1911

Because the superintendent of the I. Stephenson Company would not grant their demands which would bring about conditions in the mill only such as maintained in all other shingle mills of the district, 20 shingle weavers and 25 other men walked out at the plant of the I. Stephenson Company yesterday. The striking shingle weavers have been receiving $2.50 per day, while other mills are paying $2.75 per day for the same work.

Caught on the bay in an open gasoline boat, John Haring narrowly escaped drowning yesterday when a heavy gale suddenly swept the bay. Mr. Haring was going across the bay in his launch to return a party of picnickers to the city when the gale came up. A monster wave swept directly over the craft dumping a large quantity of water into the boat and drowning the engine. The members of the picnic party saw the predicament and went in search of a power boat. James Hanrahan and P. A. Aronson, with the owner of the boat, went to the rescue.

Robert Wickert of Seattle, arrived here to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wickert.

John Loeffler of Minneapolis, formerly of Bark River, is in the city shaking hands with old friends.

The Misses Pearl and Ruby Bell, who motored here last Sunday with their uncle, Albert J. Pepin, are visiting at the Penn home and with Miss Nora McCauley.

Mrs. J. J. Corcoran and daughter, Marguerite, are visiting with friends in Vulcan.

Mrs. J. W. Hughson and two sons left Sunday evening for a visit at Vermillion, South Dakota.

CLIMBING WORM EATING GARDENS

Expert Advises Escanaba Residents to Use Poison Bait

Many Escanaba gardens are experiencing heavy damage from worms which destroy almost any kind of vegetable or flower foliage, and a specimen was sent to R. H. Pettit, professor of entomology at Michigan State College. Dr. Pettit, in his letter of reply, identified the pest as a "climbing cutworm" and recommends a poison mixture which has proven the best means of exterminating the worms, and is used also as poison bait for grasshoppers.

Regarding the climbing cutworm, Dr. Pettit says:

"These insects habitually work in trees, often in fruit trees. Now, whenever it happens that the moths lay the eggs that produce these worms in districts where there are no trees for them to climb up into, they have to take whatever they can find. When they get into a cabbage field they go up to the top of the cabbage and bore in. When theey get in celery they raise particular cain in the tops, and so on wherever they happen to occur."

The bait recipe is given as follows:

1 bushel bran.

½ gallon of cheap molasses.

A little water.

1 pound white arsenic (not arsenate of lead nor calcium arsenate) or Paris green.

When thoroughly mixed stir in enough amyl acetata (banana oil) to scent the mass slightly, about two or three ounces at most. Smaller batches may be mixed, of course, in like proportion.

"If you cannot get white arsenic," says Dr. Pettit, "do not substitute arsenate of lead or arsenate of lime, but use two pounds of Paris green in place of one pound of white arsenic, and if you cannot get banana oil, then use four or five oranges or lemons chopped up fine, skins and all, and mix in with the bran. This is the perfume that attracts the worms and makes the bran bait effective."

The bait should be thoroughly mixed so that each bran flake carries some of the poison and molasses. The bait is applied by broadcasting so that it breaks up finely and remains on the surface of the ground. Lumps may attract birds and poultry.

Tanglefoot Effective

The habit of ascending into trees each evening and then descending and hiding under rubbish during the daytime is one that may be taken advantage of in controlling the climbing cutworm. A barrier consisting of a band of tanglefoot placed around the trunk of a tree will prevent climbing cutworms from getting into the treetops, and sometimes this is sufficient treatment alone to protect the tree. In the case of young trees with thin bark it is well to supplement banding by the use of poison bran bait scattered near the base of the trees. Cutworms repeatedly have been known to ascend the trunk until halted by the barrier, after which the famished worms have gnawed through the bark and completely girdled the young tree.

Professor Pettit recommends that the poison bait be tried out in gardens all over Escanaba which are infested by the worms, and has confidence that the situation will be greatly improved, if not entirely remedied, by this treatment.

Agricultural experts are passing on the bait recipe for killing off grasshoppers, a pest which caused enormous losses to field crops in the Upper Peninsula. The recipe for grasshoppers is similar, and is given as follows:

Mix thoroughly—

1 bushel bran.

½ gallon cheap molasses.

¼ pound salt.

1 pound white arsenic or 1 pound Paris green.

When thoroughly mixed stir in enough amyl acetata (banana oil) to scent the mass slightly (two or three ounces). Enough water to moisten.

WHO GOT SCARED?

Denver—Mrs. Della M. Babb and Mrs. Florence Sims went fishing. They chanced to intrude on a government game preserve, and bumped into a herd of buffalo. They ran out of the reservation, jumped in their auto, and sped home. When they reached Denver, however, they found an officer waiting for them. They were charged with scaring the buffalo, but were released when they explained that they were more frightened than the animals.

Law Provides 44-Hour Week; No Carrier Delivery Today

In conformity with the new 44-hour week law which went into effect July 1, there will be no carrier deliveries from the Escanaba postoffice this afternoon, Postmaster George G. Geniesse announced yesterday.

The provisions of the new regulation would ordinarily have been carried out for the first time on July 4, but holiday hours were in effect at the postoffice that day, so today will be the first day under the curtailed week for postal employes.

In addition to the concellation of carrier service for Saturday afternoons, the money order window at the postoffice will also be closed for the half holiday each week. The regulations will not effect service at the general delivery and parcel post window.

Jews of Peninsula Plan Social Event At Chicagoan Lake

Iron River—Between 400 and 500 Jews from the upper peninsula and various points in Wisconsin will hold a social gathering at Chicagoan Lake on July 26.

The gathering, heralded as a gala event, is being sponsored by the Young Folks' Jewish club, of Iron county. It will be in the form of a picnic, each family bringing its own lunch basket. Refreshments will be served on the grounds.

The proceeds, according to the committee, will be used for welfare and charity work.

Every community in the upper peninsula will be represented by prominent Jews and their families, and a large number are expected from Wisconsin cities.

Word has been received by the arrangements committee that people will come from Merrill, Antigo, Rhinelander, Eagle River, Ashland, Green Bay, Milwaukee and Chicago.

It is the first effort of Jewish leaders to bring their folk together for a social gathering, and plans will be perfected at the picnic to make it an annual event.

The executive committee of the upper peninsula Zionist organization will meet at the same time. J. J. Drey, of Iron River, will give the address of welcome, and Mayor Joseph Selin will also extend greetings.

An interesting program will be held for the children, including sports events, games and water races. Prizes will be awarded the winners. The adults will spend their time playing bridge and discussing welfare work. They will also have a sports program. There will be dancing in the pavilion in the afternoon and evening, with the Yellow Jackets, of Iron Mountain, providing the music. A carnival feature will be held at night.

The arrangements committee includes Charles Shaffer, Herman Plous and Harry Miller, of Iron River, and Ed Harris, of Stambaugh.

Maybe Indian Medicine Man Painted Cliffs At Fayette to Draw Trade?

An interesting story about the painted cliffs near Fayette, based on an interview with Cheever Buckbee of Escanaba, appears in a recent issue of the Detroit News. The story was written by Kendrick Kimball, feature writer of that newspaper, who visited in Escanaba recently. It is as follows:

The advent of advertising in Michigan occurred nearly 400 years ago, according to Cheever Buckbee, of Escanaba, when an Indian medicine man daubed a generous supply of red paint over a cliff near Fayette, in the Big Bay de Noc Peninsula.

Clinging to a ladder of bark and vines, the primitive physician who risked a fall to death on the rocks below, covered with the brush of his day an area as large as the side of the average house. Then the crude outline of an octopus or sea crab was painted beside the entrance of his cave, serving the same purpose of a sign indicating an office.

Today the painted cliff and the medicine man's symbol, which have valiantly resisted erosion, are a fascinating subject of speculation to visitors to the peninsula. The more venturesome climb 50 feet from the water's edge and through a tangle of brush and fallen trees to explore the cave where he dispensed his charms and cures. The cliff is 200 feet high.

"The medicine man may have been a Delaware who accompanied Fr. Hennepin to Michigan," declared Buckbee, real estate dealer with a penchant for archeology. "The salt water fish beside the cave entrance was unknown to Michigan Indians. Hennepin and La Salle are believed to have landed at Sac Bay, a short distance away, on their trip from Summer Island after the ill-fated Griffon weighed anchor for Montreal with its cargo of furs.

"Whatever his tribe, the occupant of the cave realized the importance of advertising. He painted the cliff with a mineral compound to notify the other Indians where he could be found. Even today his work may be seen from Lake Michigan, where it undoubtedly attracted many clients passing in their canoes. It was a common practice to tender gifts to a medicine man to obtain the good will of the spirits, and supply him with choice specimens of fish and game."

The medicine man's "office" is only one of a series of caves in the porous limestone formation along the lake. They were utilized as strongholds and places of refuge by the primitive inhabitants of the region, who employed ladders to reach the beach and the tops of the bluffs. The caves range from a few square feet to a passageway 100 feet long. The most recent discovery occurred when a farmer's team dropped through the roof of one while plowing.

"A French sword that might have belonged to a member of La Salle's party was picked up in the vicinity of the bay," Buckbee added. "In other places inscriptions and figures hundreds of years old are chiseled upon the rocks. Some of the caves have been dynamited by farmers, who feared their children might be trapped in them while at play. Bones of wild animals and many relics are found."

The peninsula contains many objects of archeological importance, Buckbee said. Among them are traces of fences into which deer were driven for slaughter and a stone covered with picture writing.

Perronville Church Has Annual Picnic

Sunday, July 12, will be a gala day at Perronville when the members of St. Michael's parish, of which Rev. Fr. Tom Drengacz is the pastor, will stage their annual parish picnic.

The women of the parish have made elaborate preparations for the celebration which always draws large crowds to that village. A chicken dinner will be served from 11:30 to 2 and from 5:30 to 7.

Amusements of all kinds for young and old, including foot races, sack races, fat man's and fat woman's races, horse shoe pitching and various games and out-door sports will make up the day's program.

The public is cordially invited to take part in the various events. A large number of persons are planning to take their families to the picnic and spend the day in the open. Refreshments may be secured throughout the afternoon and evening.

The proceeds of the picnic will be used for the benefit of St. Michael's church.

BIG LOAN WILL HELP GERMANY

"Credit Front" Will Be Strengthened by About $500,000,000

Berlin (AP) — The nationwide "credit front" created by a thousand of the strongest German industrial, banking and shipping concerns, is soon to be strengthened with an international loan of 2,000,000,000 marks (about $500,000,000), it was reported in financial circles here.

Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, who discussed Germany's credit at an evening press conference, did not mention the 2,000,000,000 marks specifically, but he emphasized that the magnitude of Germany's new credit was not limited by the 500,000,000 mark (about $125,000,000) guarantee, underwritten by the German syndicate.

"The 500,000,000," he said, "has the same relationship to the syndicate's effectiveness as an ordinary bank's capital stock has to its capacity for extending credit."

Good Security.

Moreover, the thousand firms making up the syndicate, while classified as those institutions with individual assets "of at least 5,000,000 marks," actually represent plant assets exceeding 20,000,000,000 marks (about $5,000,000,000).

Security for a loan of several billion marks, based on the syndicate, would, it was pointed out, be one of much higher type than is usually demanded for foreign commercial loans.

The scope and nature of the syndicate were further clarified by a new emergency decree issued tonight laying down the principles of its operation.

In the first place, it was pointed out, the $125,000,000 guarantee is not a credit pool to be paid into the gold discount bank in the form of cash by one thousand members of the syndicate, but it is their pledge to make good credit losses up to that amount out of their own assets, should other means of protecting the creditor fail.

At the end of each semester, the bank will notify the syndicate's governing board of seven members what, if any, credit losses must be made good. Each of the one thousand member concerns then would have to contribute according to the percentage of the original responsibility it assumed.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE MICHIGAN

Unless there is a perfect understanding between parents and children — especially between father and son, there can be no happiness in the family.

In "Father's Son" Booth Tarkington has given to the screen a story which proves this contention in a plot filled with human interest. The picture was produced by First National, who gave the world silent productions of "Boy of Mine" and "Penrod" about three years ago.

William Beaudine was chosen again by First National officials to direct the present version because of his understanding of children and his appreciation of the Tarkington stories.

The cast includes Leon Janney, Lewis Stone, Irene Rich, Mickey Bennett, John Halliday, Robert Dandridge and others. "Father's Son" comes to the Michigan Theatre.

AT THE DELFT

Which is the bad sister? The answer to this question will be found on the screen of the Delft Theatre, when the famous Booth Tarkington story, which has been produced as a talking picture special, shows today.

The two sisters of the story are played by Miss Fox and Miss Davis, both of whom are making their screen debuts in this production. The title of the picture is itself "Bad Sister," and audiences will have a chance to judge for themselves which one the title applies to. The production is one of the most entertaining of the season, and the Delft Theatre is preparing to take care of capacity audiences.

"Bad Sister" was produced at Universal City, California, where "All Quiet on the Western Front" and many other of the screen's foremost pictures have been made. It was directed by Hobart Henley, who has filmed many successes.

Consolidation of Schools at Winona Highly Successful

Houghton—With the closing of the DonKen and the Winona lumber mills in 1928 and the exodus of a considerable part of the population, Winona township was confronted with a serious educational problem. Schools had been maintained at Winona, DonKen, and Lake Roland. Realizing that the maintenance of three schools was no longer practicable, economical, nor to the advantage of the children, Mrs. E. M. Case of DonKen, secretary of the township board of education, untiringly preached the doctrine of consolidation. She was ably assisted in preliminary plans by J. Bettens, Houghton county commissioner of schools, who has always exhibited a keen interest in the educational welfare of the township. The board of education backed the consolidation proposition enthusiastically, and in the fall of 1929 the schools were consolidated under the Rural Agricultural act, with headquarters at Winona.

The past two years have shown conclusively how wise a step this consolidation has been for Elm River township. Under the direction of Supt. Emery E. Jacques with the cooperation of the board of education at Lansing, courses of study in the high school were revised and improved. Home economics, manual arts, agriculture and commercial subjects were added to the high school curriculum. A full four year high school course is offered, and the high school was placed on the state approved list June 1, 1931. In all grades only life certificate teachers have been hired for the past two years, and a large enough teaching force maintained to insure a great amount of personal attention to every child. Much excellent equipment for Manual Arts and Home Economics from the school's more prosperous days still remains, and with the coming of the Copper District Power company to this community this summer the equipment can be made available for instruction next fall.

The visitor to Elm River township today would be perhaps pleasantly surprised to find a people not living in the glory of other days, but a people who are becoming agriculturally minded. The school is stressing the need of scientific agriculture. 4-H clubs in Agriculture, Manual Arts and Home economics are either going organizations or are in the process of formation. With the cooperation of Earl Roberts, Houghton county agricultural agent, a high school potato club was formed this spring, every boy in high school taking part.

While the prospects for a booming Elm River township may be rather remote, a steady, intelligent people are learning a new art closely allied to mining, in this case the mining of agricultural produce; and the children have more nearly equal opportunity with their brothers and sisters of more fortunate communities in the important sphere of education.

The teaching staff for next year includes:

Mrs. Florence M. Jacques, Primary, Marquette.

Marion MacAuley, Intermediate, Calumet.

V. Ellen Nikka, upper grades, Republic.

Arvo Nordlund, high school, Ishpeming.

Emery E. Jacques, Supt., Marquette, formerly of Bark River.

Described as the world's costliest book, a Gtenberg Bible printed on vellum, and estimated to be worth more than $250,000, may be offered for sale in London very soon.

Man Who Helped Dedicate Statue Of Liberty Dies

Dr. Herbert John Higgs, Detroit physician, who practiced medicine at Wausaukee, Crivitz and Quinnesec a number of years ago, died in Detroit on July 7. Dr. Higgs, who served as a bugler on the U. S. S. Yosemite during the Spanish war, was a brother-in-law of Joseph Leisen of Menominee. He was 64 years old and his death in the Marine hospital in Detroit followed an illness of a year.

Dr. Higgs was born in Detroit in 1867. As bugler on the U. S. S. Yantic, he took part in the dedication exercises of the Statue of Liberty in October, 1886. He was graduated from the Michigan College of Medicine and Surgery in 1901. For awhile he practiced at Wausaukee, Crivitz and Quinnesec but later returned to Detroit. He practiced there until a little more than a year ago when he went to Florida. After his return to Detroit, several months ago, two operations were performed in a futile effort to save his life.

Rural Mail Men to Have Outing Sunday

A large attendance is expected Sunday when the rural mail carriers of the upper peninsula gather at Presque Isle for their annual meeting and picnic. Plans for the event have been completed by officers of the upper peninsula unit of the Rural Mail Carriers' association, and if the weather is pleasant it is anticipated that the event will attract nearly all of the organization's members and their families.

A picnic dinner will be served and an afternoon program of sports and entertainment for children, as well as adults, has been planned.

MARKET BASKET

Wise Choice of Food Items Makes Picnic Enjoyable

Too often the aftermath of a picnic is so unpleasant for children that mothers dread that particular form of entertainment for their small folk.

Excitement usually runs high at such a time, and freedom from restraining table manners as well as the stimulus of fresh air induces a thoughtless stuffing of foods. Children love to eat out-of-doors and if the picnic menu is carefully planned there is no reason to deprive them of the pleasure.

In the first place, avoid too great a variety in foods. Children are apt to be confused and lose their appetites if confronted by an array of different viands. The package picnic is excellent for small children. All articles of food are wrapped separately in individual servings. They are packed in a pastry box or on a picnic plate and wrapped in heavy brown paper and firmly tied with stout cord. When lunch time comes each child receives his package and there is no tedious passing.

Sandwich Fillings

Use as much whole wheat bread as possible for sandwiches, and choose the fillings with care. Chopped raw vegetables, jellies, cream cheese, cottage cheese, dried fruits and nuts run through the food chopper all make acceptable fillings.

Plain, hard-cooked eggs, or those stuffed with finely chopped vegetables when vegetable sandwiches are not included, are wholesome and filling. They help to supply the vitamins so often lacking in the average picnic lunch.

A thermos bottle of milk and a small can of home-made chocolate syrup or a can of one of the many good prepared cocoas on the market makes it possible to produce a festive milk shake in the easiest and quickest way imaginable.

Keep the dessert simple. Ice cream is always a treat. Well-washed fruit and cup cakes or cookies are suitable and adequate.

Simple Camp Cookery

If hot food is wanted, eggs can be scrambled over a campfire and bacon can be frizzled, using long green sticks on which to fasten the bacon. A soup or stew made at home and carried in a vacuum container can be reheated over a small fire.

Even little children should be taught that a picnic is a co-operative affair and should be allowed to do their share of the work. The responsibility of being certain that no bit of the campfire is left burning and that no scraps of paper or food are left about the picnic should be impressed on children as soon as they are old enough to take part in such outings.

Perhaps these suggestions for sandwich fillings will prove helpful to you and suggest other possibilities:

Finely minced cabbage, carrot and celery moistened slightly with lemon juice.

Cottage cheese combined with jelly and put between graham bread.

Finely chopped prunes combined with peanut butter.

Chopped hard-cooked eggs and lettuce.

Cold roast lamb and lettuce.

Cold boiled or roast chicken and lettuce.

Butter Is Necessary

These fillings are easily packed, and are easily digested and nourishing.

A thin coating of butter always should be evenly spread on one side of each slice of bread used for sandwiches. Butter materially increases the food value of the sandwich and also aids in preventing the bread from absorbing the filling. Crisp lettuce leaves are another aid in keeping the filling from soaking into the bread, making it soggy.

Meat sandwiches need lettuce for another reason. The lettuce furnishes the green vegetable so necessary and adds bulk to the diet. Trim lettuce so that it just fits the bread and there will be no unappetizing, wilted edges. The same treatment that keeps sandwiches moist keeps lettuce crisp—careful wrapping to exclude air.

Taxicabs may be introduced on the Gold Coast of Africa.

Summer Weather Meals Require a Wise Selection

Hot weather meal planning includes not only a wise selection of foods, but also a time schedule that arranges the cooking so that it is not necessary to spend so much time in an overheated kitchen. A succession of cold meals is likely to loose appeal, and so for this reason the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, suggests alternating them with hot meals that will provide cold servings.

Here is a menu for one day which may be easily followed:

BASKET :-:

RECIPES

(These recipes serve 5 persons).

Corn Meal Muffins

2 cups corn meal; ½ teaspoon soda; 2 teaspoons baking powder; 2 teaspoons salt; 2 cups sour milk; 2 eggs; 2 tablespoons melted fat.

Sift the dry ingredients and add the milk. Add the well-beaten eggs and the fat. Pour into very hot well buttered muffin pans. Bake from 25 to 30 minutes in a hot oven (400 to 425 degrees F).

Roast Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb

Select a shoulder of lamb weighing from 3 to 4 pounds. Have the butcher remove all the bones and the fell. Save the bones for making soup. A lamb shoulder may be stuffed and either left flat or rolled. The flat shoulder is easier to sew up than the rolled, and the pocket holds twice as much stuffing. Either of these completely boned stuffed shoulders can be carved straight through in attractive slices of part meat and part stuffing.

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Sprinkle the inside of the pocket with salt and pepper, pile the hot stuffing in lightly, and sew the edges together. Rub salt, pepper, and flour over the outside. If the shoulder has only a very thin covering of fat, lay several strips of bacon over the top. Place the roast on a rack in an open pan without water. Sear for 30 minutes in a hot oven (480 deg. F.). If bacon is laid over the roast shorten the time of searing so as to avoid overbrowning. Reduce the temperature of the oven to 300 degrees F. and cook the meat at this temperature until tender. From two and one-half to three hours will be required to cook a medium-sized stuffed shoulder at these oven temperatures. Serve hot, with brown gravy.

Forcemeat Stuffing

2 cups fine dry bread crumbs; 2 tablespoons butter or other fat; ¼ cup chopped celery; 1 tablespoon chopped onion; 1 sprig parsley, cut fine; 1-8 teaspoon celery seed; ¼ teaspoon savory seasoning; 1 teaspoon salt; 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Melt the butter in a skillet, add the celery and onion, and cook for two or three minutes.

Assembly at Michigamme Draws Many

Over one hundred young people have registered during the opening three days of the Northern Michigan Baptist Young People's Assembly, at Michigamme, according to word from Rev. John Hugo, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of this city, Dean of the Assembly.

Rev. Mr. Hugo, Mrs. Hugo, and a group of representatives of the Young People's society of the Calvary church are attending the assembly, with young people from all parts of the peninsula.

The largest daily attendance at the Assembly is expected on Sunday for the program of three services arranged for that day. The opening service will be at 10 o'clock in the morning with Rev. Eric Lindholm, of St. Paul, Assembly speaker and Bible teacher, delivering the sermon.

The afternoon meeting at 2 o'clock will have as its speaker, Dr. G. Arvid Hagstrom, of St. Paul, president of Bethel Institute, executive of the Swedish Baptist conference of America, and teacher and lecturer, as its speaker. A program of song and instrumental music will be given at this service.

Evening Meeting

In the evening the meeting will be at 7 o'clock, Rev. George F. Sturtevant, of Lansing, director of Christian Education and Evangelism, speaking.

A large number of Escanaba members of the Baptist denomination will drive to Michigamme on Sunday for the services.

Chateau Becomes Feminists' Club

Washington (AP)—The chateau in France of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, president of the national woman's party, has become unofficial headquarters for feminists from many parts of the globe.

Miss Doris Stevens, who is on her way to attend a meeting of the League of Nations in Geneva, will spend some time with Mrs. Belmont conferring on women's projects.

Mrs. Belmont is taking part in the equal nationality rights campaign. She spends most of her time now in France but keeps in close touch with American feminist movements.

Favorite Recipe
Betty Ann

A fruit jam recipe which housewives will welcome at the beginning of a busy canning season, is the following, received through the courtesy of Mrs. A. L. Stilp who finds it invariably successful. The recipe is given for strawberries or raspberries but other fruit may be used.

Fruit Jam

Clean berries and mash them thoroughly. For each cup of berries, add one cup of sugar. Place this in a granite or enamel container and stir as though stirring a cake batter. Place in a cool place and stir several times during the day and evening. In the morning place container on fire and bring to a boiling point. Remove immediately, do not permit mixture to boil, and put in pint jars. Seal while hot.

Braised Beef

Place a layer of sliced onions in the bottom of a stewpan, over which arrange a layer of thick slices of bacon, and put a piece of round of beef on the bacon, after tying up the beef to keep it in shape. Set on the fire for 20 minutes, turning it once or twice, then add some carrots and onions cut in slices, a bundle of sweet herbs, pepper and salt to taste, and add a few cloves. Fill the pan with sufficient stock to cover the beef, placing the lid on the pan, and braise it from four to five hours in the oven. Strain free from all fat, and serve with the meat gravy.

Fresh Rhubarb Pie

Pare off all the leaves and peel the stalks from two bunches of fine rhubarb; cut them into pieces about half an inch in length, put them in a basin with three ounces of powdered loaf-sugar and mix them well. Place them in a pie-dish, cover with paste, brush the surface with beaten egg and bake for 15 or 20 minutes in a brisk oven. Then place it in the oven again to melt the sugar. Serve either hot or cold.

Belts Of Many Colors In Favor

New York, (AP)—Belts have bounced back into fashion again with the definition once more of milady's waist line. They are shown in every width and color and are made of patent leather, metal, ribbon or cloth. Some are no wider than a finger's width, while others, six inches across, are more nearly like girdles. Broad shining ones of red and green patent leather are popular for sports wear.

Go Opposite from Crowd to Succeed Says Lady Rhondda

London (AP)—Lady Rhondda, probably Britain's most successful business woman, thinks the best guide to commercial success is the precept her father taught her when she was just a girl—watch which way the crowd is going and then go the other way.

At a luncheon recently she told how her father, on board the sinking Lusitania, had saved his life by applying in an emergency the policy he applied so successfully to industry.

As the great liner sank he noticed that the crowd had jammed the upper deck, so he went to the lower.

Herding On Wrong End

There he found the last boat being launched. There was a woman with a baby in her arms afraid to jump into it, so he helped her and then got in himself.

Had he followed the crowd to the upper deck he probably would not have survived for, as it developed it was not possible to launch any of the boats there.

"I am not an exceptional woman," said Lady Rhondda in replying to a toast, "but I had in some ways an exceptional father. To him one human being was equal in potential capacity to any other—whether man or woman.

"He trained me in business exactly as he would have trained a son. He never for a moment made me feel that because I was a woman I could not hope to do as well as I might have done had I been a man.

"He prevented me from having that terrible inhibition that comes from believing that one cannot do so well as others.

"It is the most awful thing in the world."

FRESH MINT

Now that fresh mint is so plentiful, don't neglect the refreshing uses that can be made of it—as garnishes, in salads, and particularly in iced drinks.

Party Frock

Summer weather brings out the prints. Evening gowns of cool color in sheer chiffons seem suited perfectly to the soft moonlight and sweet music of the dance. One of the prettiest of dance dresses, pictured here has a mint green background with soft brown flowers shading from a medium brown to the softest tint of beige. It has tiny straps over the shoulders and no back to speak of. A huge flower of the chiffon is placed high at one side of the back and the skirt is tiered and reaches to the floor.

Officers In State Conservation Dep't Have New Titles

Newberry, July 10 (Special)—The changes brought about by the reduction of costs in the conservation department will cause new titles to come into use throughout the state, according to reports received by the local officials. Julius Thorson, hitherto known as "district warden," and having as his special duties the game division of the district, will after July 15 be known as district supervisor with Richard Beach as his assistant. Men known as fire wardens will hereafter be called conservation officers. H. R. Sayres who has been state fire warden, has been retained to have charge of all four divisions of the department, combining the law enforcement, forest fire, game refuge and lands department. and will be known as chief field administrator.

So far only one local man has been released from service as a part of the general reduction. Fred Kimmel, for many years a game warden and at one time in charge of the Superior state forest located in the northern part of Luce and Chippewa counties, has received his notice that his services will not be required after July 15. Mr. Kimmel is believed to have considerable business considerations and it is reported that these will take most of his time.

Under the new reorganization of the conservation forces of the peninsula Officer Vizena retains his position as contact man with the game wardens, fire wardens and towermen of the four newly apportioned districts.

The district conservation officers will now be known as assistant district supervisors, and all officials in the service will be known as conservation officers. Under the new reorganization districts assistants will be made available in law enforcement when deemed necessary, at times when not needed for their own particular duties. During the coming week meetings will be held in the four newly organized districts of the upper peninsula for the purpose of laying out the work of the various officials of each district and their assistants. These meetings will be attended by Chief Field Administrator H. R. Sayre, who will be accompanied by Officer Vizena. CROPS LOOK GOOD

While people are speculating upon the results of the reparations moratorium and wondering when there will be a revival of business, the public attention seems to have been diverted from a most important and beneficial feature closely related to the prosperity of the upper peninsula and that is our agricultural interests and allied industries. The present season, without exception, has been one of the best for growing weather. Crops of all kinds are in fine condition at the present time. The potato crop will be one of the largest ever produced in Alger county, also hay. This assurance of a bountiful crop will assist in relieving the depression in this section of the peninsula.

BLUEBERRY CROP

The indications at present are that there will be a bumper crop of blueberries in Alger county. The blueberries grow in abundance on the plains south of Wetmore and in various other localities in the county. The berries are now getting ripe and some have been brought to Munising by the pickers.

HERMANSVILLE

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Hermansville, Mich.—On July 20, the First National Bank of Hermansville will be ten years old, and plans are being made to commemorate the day in an appropriate manner. The building will be specially decorated for the occasion and wide-open house will be declared all day and extending into the evening, during which time ice cream will be served to the ladies and children of the community and cigars to the men. It is expected that a large crowd of community folks will gather at the bank on that day and help celebrate the bank's birthday and the completion of ten years of constructive and successful banking in the community.

Chris H. Gribble, the cashier, in announcing this novel and unique idea of a birthday party, stated that during the entire ten years of the banks career, the management has stood for only those outstanding policies of sound and safe banking, as well as showing a devotion to community development, and it has provided the most complete modern facilities obtainable. The years have put their stamp of approval upon these policies, as shown by the loyalty and co-operation of the people of the community, and this is the officers idea of expressing gratefulness to the patrons and friends for their business and good will, and their promise of continued cooperation in helpful and dependable service."

Late in February 1921, the needs of banking service in Hermansville began to be apparent, and representative citizens met with Dr. G. W. Earle for the purpose of discussing the possibility of establishing a bank in the town. A favorable decision was unanimously reached, and a request for a National Charter was made to the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington, the application being signed by G. W. Earle, G. Harold Earle, Stewart E. Earle, David Downey and J. W. Black as organizers. All the provisions of the statutes of the United States having been complied with, Charter No. 11954 was issued by the National Government and the bank authorized to commence business on April 12, 1921. The first officers were: Dr. G. W. Earle, president; J. W. Black, vice-president; and John H. Wooley, cashier. Plans were then drawn for a permanent bank building and construction soon followed in charge of G. Harold Earle. The building was completed and the bank announced its opening as July 20, 1921. Deposits the first day amounted to $15,134.67 and the capital was $20,000.00. By the end of the first year, the capital had been raised to $25,000.00 with surplus $5,000.00 and deposits of $103,850.90. From that time on the bank has had a steady and consistent growth.

In 1923, Chris H. Gribble, with an experience of twenty-three years in the banking business in the Copper Country, was made cashier and a director of the bank and is still serving in those capacities. Stewart E. Earle is president and G. Harold Earle is vice-president. George H. Curran of Faithorn is assistant cashier and Miss Naomi Allen of Hermansville is bookkeeper and clerk of the Insurance Department which is operated in connection with the bank. The present officers together with E. E. Allen, David Downey and August Wendt, make up the board of directors.

The bank at present has the distinction of being classed as a Roll of Honor Bank and has a capital of $25,000.00, surplus $25,000.00, profits and reserves of $21,000.00, deposits $430,000.00 and total resources of over half million dollars.

W. O. W. BAND CANCELS TRIP

Excursion Trip to Frankfort to Be Made Without Band Members

The annual W. O. W. band summer outing to Interlochen which was scheduled to take place this week-end, was cancelled yesterday morning in respect to George A. Hamill, director of the band, whose mother, Mrs. Cynthia Hamill, passed away Friday morning. The regular excursion to Frankfort and return, however, will be made without the band members.

A large number of Manistique residents and many others from nearby towns are expected to leave on the Ann Arbor car ferry at midnight tonight on the round trip excursion. Special rates have been announced for the occasion.

Leaving here between eleven o'clock and midnight tonight, the ferry will arrive at Frankfort at seven o'clock Sunday morning and will leave there at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, thus enabling the party to have a delightful stay. The ferry will dock here at eleven o'clock Sunday evening. Those who wish to remain in Frankfort longer than Sunday may do so on the special rates.

The W. O. W. band was to have made the trip to Frankfort with the excursion and were to return Monday evening. They were to visit Interlochen where many high school and college musical organizations compete for honors each year.

Fords Tie Nortons For League Honors

A patched up Creighton Ford team barely managed to put themselves into a first place tie with the Norton Special Thursday evening when the cellar champion Coffey Coals lost a close 5-3 game. A rally in the two final innings gave the Fords a victory.

Fiebernitz, pitching his first game in almost a month, held the Ford men to one run in the first five innings while his mates succeeded in scoring two counters against Walt Drevdahl. Two runs each in the sixth and seventh frames enabled the Fords to pull out a win.

The Central Markets continued their great work by slaughtering the Independents to a tune of 15-2. The Markets bombarded the offerings of Milo Jones for a total of 25 hits, while the Indees could collect only six off of Jack Williams. At the end of the fifth the Markets led by a score of 6-2, but two in the sixth and a brace of seven in the seventh, completed the rout. Stoor hurled the final inning for the Markets.

The contest was featured by three homers, Hentschell and Ralph Williams connected for the circuit for the Markets and Joe Brunet did the trick for the Indees.

DETROIT GANGSTERS TAKEN FOR LAST "RIDE"

Detroit doesn't believe in losing time in getting its convicted gangsters off to prison. That's why Angelo Livecchi and Ted Pizzino ,handcuffed in the center), sentenced to life for killing William Cannon, dope-ring leader, were hustled off to Marquette prison by airplane. The prisoners, previously acquitted on the charge of murdering Gerald E. Buckley, radio announcer, are shown as they arrived in Marquette in the custody of Deputy Sheriff A. F. Fraser, left, and Sheriff Henry Behrendt, right.

Some Hot Tips on Keeping Cool!

Yes, folks, we're crazy with the heat these blistering days, so here are some hot tips on keeping cool.

Upper right is a city version of the "Ol' swimming hole" as kiddies playing in a teeming Chicago gutter took showers at a fire hydrant.

"Sure, I'm hot and bothered," said little Mary Ann Stevens, with a shade of annoyance, as she posed for the picture at the right center at an exclusive Southampton, L. I., beach. "But who cares, when they have a big sandpile."

Kitty Sandstrum, upper left, is riding right through the heat wave and into the cool waters at Venice, Calif., on the back of a baby seal.

If you really can't endure the temperature any more, just think of those good old days 100 degrees ago, when Omaha, Neb., co-eds were frolicking in the snow as shown at the left center.

Lillian Bond, the movie actress, makes a pretty hot pictture, we'd say, wearing her Turkish costume on the beach near Hollywood, as shown below, but those transparent trousers are plenty cool, thank goodness!

Ex-Crown Prince As He Is Now

Had the World War taken an opposite turn with the Germans victorious, this man would have been a powerful figure today instead of a mere gentleman of leisure. This is the latest photo of the former Crown Prince Wilhelm of Germany, eldest son of the ex-kaiser, as he attended an international tennis match in Berlin the other day

U. P. FAIR FLORAL EXHIBIT

For the past two years the florists of the Upper Peninsula, representing practically every community, have co-operated with the Board of Managers of the Upper Peninsula State Fair in furnishing floral displays for their exhibit. This has been done at a great sacrifice and expense to the individual florists.

From present indications the floral exhibit this year will excel all previous efforts. This is one of the many exhibits to be seen at the Upper Peninsula State Fair, August 24-29.

Ye Oom-pah Horns of Olden Tyme

You might think they were playboys at a picnic of the Amalgamated Pretzel Benders. Instead, however, they're very dignified bandsmen who appeared at the Command Horse Show at Aldershot, England. The horns—for they really are horns—were called "bass serpents" in the days when they were played for Queen Anne. In the center is a musician with the modern counterpart of the [illegible] instruments.

To Map Labrador Wilds From the Air

They're going to fill in the blank spaces on the map of Labrador. James K. Brownell, left, of London, and Harold G. Crowley, right, of Winthrop, Mass., soon are to leave for an extensive aerial survey of the country's interior. They are pictured here in Boston on a pontoon of their seaplane, which will carry a rubber boat, camping equipment, two-way radio and aerial cameras.

His father was Alexandre Kerensky, head of the first Russian provisional government after the overthrow of the czar, and who in turn was ousted by the Bolsheviks. Romance Makes a Double Play

Ben Chapman, New York Yankee outfielder, leads the league in stolen bases but he didn't steal the bride with whom he is shown above. He married Miss Mary Elizabeth Payne of Birmingham, Ala., in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York, the other day. He couldn't even steal away for a honeymoon, for he had to keep on playing baseball.

Shortest Vet Is Short a Job

Francis J. Butten, four feet and eight inches high and said to be the shortest World War veteran, finds he has a tall problem finding a job in these hard times. Here he is looking up to R. C. Stillwell, manager of the veterans' employment service at San Francisco, whom he hopes will find him work.

Maurice and Madame Chevalier Sail

Yes, girls, he's married. Whether you like it or not, there is a Madame as well as a Maurice Chevalier. Furthermore, he's going back to France, and will not be seen or heard in America for many a month. Something Different in Beach Costumes

This isn't a scene on Olympus, nor are the athletic young ladies training for the Olympics. They're Grecian dancers, however, getting ahead by leaps and bounds along the surf at Virginia Beach, Va. When the photographer thoughtlessly suggested that maybe the hot sand had hurt their feet it was explained that they were registering elation over something or other—perhaps an imaginary hurdle.

GYPSY CARAVAN HAS TROUBLES

Held for Micks Store Theft; Baby Taken Seriously Ill

A band of gypsies, started on their way by the Escanaba police department, and told to keep going, got in trouble again before they got out of Delta county, and spent the night in the custody of the sheriff's department after one of the women in the party was alleged to have appropriated $96 from the safe of the Micks brothers store at Kipling.

Conditions were further complicated for the officers by the critical illness of one of the babies in the gypsy family, and the fact that the woman charged with the theft, Mary Trampapoulu, was shortly to become a mother. Physicians said the two year old girl was dangerously ill with pneumonia, so the women in the party had to be quartered at the hospital while the four men remained in the county jail at Escanaba.

They were released Friday afternoon when the case was settled in Justice Alguire's court by reimbursement of the theft so that the gypsies could be sent on the move again as soon as the child's illness had passed the critical stage.

Use Clever Ruse

The theft occurred shortly before six o'clock Thursday evening when the caravan, headed north after being sent on their way by Escanaba authorities, stopped at the Micks store to make some purchases. Mary and another woman, Angellina Joano, entered the store and bought several small articles. Angellina then wished to tell the fortune of one of the clerks but money which could be put in a safe place for nine days was a first requisite. Edging around to the cash register she picked up a dollar bill. With a "that will be all," the clerk started escorting her to the door.

It was during this little flurry that Mary got busy and when the other clerk looked up, Mary was at the safe, it is reported. The clerk ran over to her but Mary protested her innocence, explaining that she only wanted to bless the money. "Look, I took none." she said, showing her empty palms. Seeing that the bills of small denomination were, as usual, still on top in the cash drawer, and believing nothing had been taken, the women were allowed to depart.

Caught Near Perkins

A checkup then revealed that all bills of larger denomination had been taken from beneath the 'ones,' and authorities at Escanaba, Gladstone and Rapid River were notified to be on the lookout. They had already passed through Rapid River on highway 41 and Deputy Carl O. Carlson gave chase. Carlson, after having deputized two men he picked up at a farm along the way, finally took the gypsies into custody near Perkins after they had cut across the plains on the Friday road. They were returned to Gladstone, where immediate restitution was offered, and then to Escanaba.

THEATRES

RIALTO

Audiences want action, action and more action, theatre managers everywhere say. Which is probably why Buck Jones the western star has flashed into new prominence. Nobody is more experienced than Jones at setting jaded nerves quivering with excitement.

Film-goers will find that he has exceeded himself to meet a great new demand for thrills in his latest Columbia feature, "Shadow Ranch" which comes to the Rialto theatre today.

Owl Show

"The strangest, most morbid motion picture I have ever directed is 'Dracula,' which presents in its principal role the weirdest character in fiction," said Tod Browning, director of the late Lon Chaney. "The terrible being about whom the strange events of the story revolve is Count Dracula, an 'undead' creature of the night, roving in search of victims during the hours of darkness, and literally dead in his cofin from sunrise to sunset."

Gladstone will have an opportunity of seeing "Dracula" on the screen when this production is presented this evening at the Rialto theatre's owl show.

Attend Rote Meet At Grand Island

Between 15 and 20 members of the Gladstone Rotary club will leave this morning for Grand Island where they will attend the annual meeting of upper peninsula Rotary Clubs. A program of sports and a sight-seeing trip are scheduled for the afternoon and the gathering will be climaxed with a banquet during the evening.

One of the most modern penitentiaries in the world will be constructed shortly in Cuba. It will consist of eight circular buildings formed around a central circular structure, the whole enclosed in a huge square area enclosed by high walls.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, July 10. (AP)—Speculative interest in the stock market was nominal today, although the undercurrent of sentiment seemed favorable and quotations closed higher.

This may have been due to the fact that prices held out stubbornly against an irregular early decline, even in the face of a 141,000-ton decline in the Steel corporation's backlog. The market strengthened steadily during the afternoon. The turnover was reduced to 1,300,000 shares.

Wall Street apparently took it for granted that Germany would get her long term credit. Banking circles here professed to have no new information on the matter, although in some quarters there was rather a strong opinion that the accommodations would be given by a group of private international banking firms. The demand for foreign exchange at Berlin continued, maintaining the pressure on the Reichsbank's reserves. The mark declined here.

German bonds were heavy in the morning, but rallied when the market learned that Great Britain had informed the international bank she was waiving reparations payments due from Germany next Monday. The Young Plan 5½s, which had been down nearly 2 points, recovered substantially. Domestic obligations closed firm. Chileans were the day's weak group.

U. S. Steel's unfilled tonnage statement exerted virtually no influence on stocks. A decline had been forecast but the actual drop was larger than anticipated and the market's willingness to ignore what looked like bearish news helped the afternoon recovery. Steel common rallied after the news was out but backed up to 98 for a net gain of 1 1-8.

French, Swiss and Dutch currencies were strong against the softness of the mark. Sterling was firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 10.—Enormous arrivals of new domestic wheat, with prospects that the harvest movement would continue heavy for several weeks, led today to fresh breaking of low price records. The market fell to the bottommost level since 1894, outdoing yesterday's tumble to below any drop later than 1896.

Today's minimum for July wheat, representing the 1931 crop was within 2¼c of the lowest point ever reached by future delivery contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The United States government crop report issued after business had ended was a surprise to most traders, the official estimate on winter wheat being materially above expectations whereas spring wheat was smaller.

The official total on all wheat was 12,000,000 bushels less than was looked for.

Wheat closed unsettled at about the day's furthest depth, ¼ to 7-8 cents down, 7-8 off to 1¼ up, oats varying from 3-8 decline to 1-8 to ¼ advance, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12 cents.

Corn was irregular, with July offerings relatively scarce, whereas there was selling pressure on the deferred months, weather conditions being auspicious for the new corn crop. Oats paralleled the action of corn.

Despite hog market upturns, provisions were affected by grain weakness.

Closing indemnities: Wheat July 52, 54 3-8; Sept. 53 to 53 1-8; Dec. 57½ to 5-8, 59¼ to 5-8.

Corn July 56, 59 to 59¼; Sept. 51 3-4 to 7-8, 54 3-8; Dec. 46 5-8, 48 5-8 to 3-4.

MONEY RATES.

New York, July 10.—Call money steady; 1½ per cent all day.

Time loans steady; 2 to 4 months 1¼ to 1½; 5 to 6 months 1 3-4 to 2 per cent.

Prime commercial paper 1 3-4 to 2.

Bankers' acceptances unchanged.

America leads the world in airlines, with nearly 50,000 miles out of a total of 172,000 in regular commercial operation.

New York, July 10. (AP)—Trading in bonds was interesting today from several standpoints. Activity increased sharply. The total sales at par value on the stock exchange amounted to $10,217,000 compared with $8,947,000 on Thursday. Railroad obligations were consistently strong but industrial and public utility loans turned upward only in the late trading.

Weakness in German issues featured the foreign group until the afternoon when the more active of them recovered their losses and closed higher. The turnover in German 5½c approximated $500,000 at par value and they showed a net gain of 1 7-8 points.

Railroad bonds experienced their best demand in some time. Higher prices appeared among both actives and quiet issues. Some of the active rails to appreciate were: Baltimore & Ohio 4½s of 1933, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy General 4s, Rock Island Refunding 4s of 1934, Erie Refunding and Improvement 5s of 1975, Great Northern 5s of 1973, Missouri Pacific series A 5½s, and series I 5s, and St. Louis San Francisco 4½s of 1978.

Loans of the United States government were dull most of the time without a definite trend.

The strength in railroad issues spread gradually to industrial and public utility loans, both of which were less active than the rails, but the movement was not sufficient to cancel all the early losses and the closing prices were narrowly irregular.

Foreign exchanges irregular; French franc strong.
Cotton higher; firm spot market.
Sugar steady; trade buying.
Coffee higher; firmer foreign markets.

Curb Advances In Closing Trading; Sales Not Heavy

New York, July 10. (AP)—The curb market moved forward confidently in the later hours of today's session, after considerable hesitancy and an inclination to heaviness in the morning.

Trading dwindled, however, the day's turnover aggregating only 230,000 shares, 20,000 less than yesterday's and the smallest for a full session since June 19.

Utilities made fair headway, American Gas and Electric gained about 3 points. Electric Bond and Share sold up more than a point, then yielded part of its gain.

The proposal to merge MacMarr with Safeway turned attention to the chain stores. MacMarr, which is traded on this market, gained fractionally. Although it is rumored that Safeway proposes to build up an organization rivalling Great Atlantic and Pacific, the latter stock rallied 7½ points to 204.

Oils were steady to firm. Sudden activity developed in Plymouth, which gained 2 points. Vacuum advanced as much, and Gulf pushed up a point. Others moved narrowly.

In the industrials, Deere, Pan American Airways, and Stutz Motor, the last named a recent weak feature, advanced 2 points. May Radio and Television pushed up nearly a point to a new high, and Affiliated Products gained as much. Aluminum Co. of America was neglected, and eased a little, but Aluminum, Ltd., gained 4 points.

SPEEDY AIR-RAIL CAR

Geneva—Prof. K. Wiesinger, of the Zurich Polytechnicum of Switzerland, has revealed plans for a fast train of light aluminum coaches, to be driven by a propeller, which he thinks will attain a speed of nearly 225 miles an hour. Frank Kruckenberg has already tried out a "Zeppelin on wheels" in Germany.

Henry L. Doherty, above, New York utilities magnate, and Governor Harry H. Woodring, below, of Kansas, will carry their feud over gas rates in Kansas to the courts. Doherty assailed Governor Woodring's demand for reductions as unjustified and the state has barred the sale of stock in Doherty's Cities Service Company.

Federal Dry Raid

Calumet.—Thirteen residents of Houghton and Hancock were arrested in raids last night by federal and state authorities, and were charged today with violating liquor laws.

A. W. Scully, Grand Rapids, deputy prohibition administrator for the western Michigan district, led the raiders today. He expressed "amazement" over conditions he found during the raids, saying many of the places were apparently "open door" saloons.

Injunctions will be sought and libel proceedings will be instituted under the revenue act to permit confiscation of all their fixtures and contents, Scully said.

94th Anniversary

Trout Lake.—Five generations of Mrs. Grace McMillan's family were represented at the celebration of her 94th birthday anniversary held at the home of her son, Robert McMillan, here Tuesday.

Among the group were sons and daughters, grandsons and granddaughters, great-grandsons and great-granddaughters, and a great-great-grandchild.

Mrs. McMillan is hale, hearty and bright of eye. She is an active woman still, and relatives expect to continue to visit her on succeeding birthdays. Mrs. McMillan with her husband, who died six years ago, has followed the woods all her life. She has been a resident of Chippewa county for many years. Her husband, Duncan McMillan, was a first cousin of D. L. McMillan, county agricultural agent.

Recall Thrown Out

Iron Mountain.—A new board of election commissioners, appointed at a special meeting of the city council last night, this morning decided that the charges set up in the recall petition filed against Alderman Ed Lindquist of the fourth ward were insufficient, and refused to approve a ballot for the election, which was to have been held July 21.

The action of the board was foreseen following its appointment by the council last night, it being common knowledge that its members, Louis Sachetti, Salem Lundberg and Joseph Soderberg, had been put on it for the purpose of doing this particular job.

Before the board convened at 10 o'clock an informal opinion had been obtained from the attorney general that their proposed act was illegal, as they had no right to pass on the sufficiency of the petitions, and would be void. Informed, when they convened after 11 o'clock, that the attorney general was sending an opinion on the law, the commissioners refused to wait for it, and made a matter of record their informal agreement to throw out the Lindquist recall election.

Memorial Drive

Iron Mountain.—Officials of the Chicago and North Western railroad in Chicago, co-operating with the city of Iron Mountain and the officers of the Iron Mountain Kiwanis club in an effort to beautify the route of the newly-established Memorial drive on U. S. 2, east of the city, have ordered that the gully on their property west of the main highway near the east city limits be filled, and that district be cleaned of brush.

A crew of workmen has already started on the project.

Undertakers Quarrel

Iron River.—Authorities today were investigating charges filed by W. J. Johns, county coroner, that his undertaking competitor, A. E. Stuht, of Iron River, did not properly embalm and bury the body of John Hess, 65, carpenter, who died from the heat either on the evening of June 30 or the morning of July 1.

The case has been referred to Leigh C. Caswell, prosecuting attorney, and the state department of health.

Hess' body was exhumed yesterday afternoon at the Iron River cemetery under the supervision of Johns and Carl Sholander.

With the exception of a white sheet wrapped around the body, Hess, it was stated, had been placed unclothed in a rough box and buried in that manner. It was claimed that the body was found face downward in the box. Johns and M. L. Fansher, Stambaugh undertaker, present as witness, said that the body was not properly embalmed, if it was embalmed at all. No casket was used.

Questioned about the affair, Stuht said that Hess' body was in such condition because of the manner in which he died that it was next to impossible to embalm it.

Receives Promotion

Marquette.—Jay G. Marks, superintendent of the state fish hatchery at Cherry Creek, will leave soon for Kalamazoo where, August 1, he will take charge of the Wolf Lake state hatchery, one of the largest in the United States.

The transfer of Mr. Marks to Kalamazoo is a promotion given him in recognition of the splendid record he has made during the 18 months he has managed the Cherry Creek plant. Coming to Marquette from the Watersmeet hatchery, which he established in 1922, Mr. Marks started the plan of rearing as many trout to maturity as possible in rearing ponds and raceways of the depot before planting them in streams.

Light Rates Reduced

Ishpeming.—G. A. Donald, general superintendent of the Michigan Gas and Electric company, has advised the city council that his company has voluntarily reduced residential and commercial lighting and power rates in Ishpeming.

"We have given this matter serious consideration for some time. Even though present business conditions do not warrant a reduction, considering that the revenue is considerably less than it was a year ago, we have, nevertheless, decided to put into effect immediately the new rate schedule. This is being done to stimulate new business and, to some extent, relieve distress caused by unemployment," Mr. Donald wrote the council.

Grove Rouse Heads Malt Tax Division

Lansing, July (AP)—Grove M. Rouse, of Atlanta, sergeant-at-arms of the senate in the last legislature, and former head of the bus division of the state public utilities commission, was appointed head of the malt tax division of the department of state by Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, today. Rouse was dismissed as head of the bus division shortly after Governor Brucker took office. He was active in the primary campaign in behalf of former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck.

Philadelphia Beats New York in 14 Innings, 8-6

CHAMPIONS WIN LENGTHY GAME

Gehrig Clouts 22nd Home Run of Year With Ruth on Base

New York, July 10 (AP)—For the seventh time this season the New York Yankees engaged in an extra-inning conflict today and for the sixth time they went down in defeat as the Philadelphia Athletics beat them out, 8 to 6, in fourteen innings. Max Bishop's triple in the fourteenth, a wild pitch by Ed Wells, Al Simmons' single and a triple by Jimmy Foxx gave the champions their margin of victory. Big George Earnshaw, who relieved Walberg in the seventh, held the Yanks scoreless through the five extra innings. The first two Yankees up in the fourteenth hit safely but Earnshaw forced the next batter to pop up and then struck out the next two to end the contest with a flourish.

But for Lou Gehrig, the A's would have won in the regulation time. Two Yanks were out in the last of the ninth when Babe Ruth singled and Gehrig deposited his twenty-second home run of the year to tie the score.

S-T-A-R CRONINS

You have to be a Cronin to win letters in four sports in your junior year at Rutgers university. At least, none but the Cronins—Jerry, top, and George, lower—accomplished the feat in 164 years of Rutgers' athletic history. George graduated this year but he won his letters in football, swimming, track and water polo during his third year. Jerry, senior this fall, made his phenomenal record in football, lacrosse, track and water polo.

Gladstone to Meet Trenary On Upbay Diamond On Sunday

Gladstone, July 10—Gladstone baseball fans will have a chance to watch their favorite sport without journeying away Sunday afternoon when the local nine play their second home game of the season, facing Trenary on the local diamond.

Bovin put his crew through a number of stiff workouts this week and they looked plenty good in the practice sessions. The same lineup which tamed the veteran Wells crew in a 14-inning game on the Fourth is expected to face the Trenary nine. Either Van De Weghe or Olson will do the hurling with Bovin on the receiving end.

Leading Batsmen In Big Leagues

(By The Associated Press)

Babe Ruth's failure to collect more than two singles in seven times at bat against the Athletics yesterday cost the Yankees slugger his undisputed leadership of the batting parade. He lost four points and fell back into a deadlock with Eddie Morgan of Cleveland, each with an average of .388. Morgan was idle. Harvey Hendrick of Cincinnati, only other member of the Big Six, lost two points and he hit one out of four against the Cardinals. The leaders:

All Other Favorites at Forest Hills Win Handily

Forest Hills, L. I., N. Y., July 10 (AP)—One upset, the downfall of Albert Burke of France by Howard O. Kinsey, California, former Davis cup star, spiced the professional lawn tennis battles today in the quarter finals of the fifth tournament for the championship of the United States. The famous European, howed to the chop stroke of the American. Kinsey's victory was scored 10-8, 6-4, 6-4. Burke was seeded number 2 on the foreign side.

RIVERSIDE CLUB PLANS TOURNEY

Upper Peninsula Invitational Golf Meet on July 17-18

Elaborate plans have been made for the upper peninsula invitational golf tournament to be played at Riverside Country Club, Menominee, July 17 and 18, according to W. F. Doyle who was in the city yesterday.

"We all remember the splendid hospitality shown at this same tournament in Escanaba a few years ago and it is our hope that we can even surpass Escanaba in attendance as well as entertainment, to say nothing about golf itself."

Mr. Doyle said the Menominee course is in the best condition it has been in several years and the various committees in charge of the tournament are all set to take care of a large crowd.

Special plans have been made for accommodating all guests. The hotels in both Menominee and Marinette are getting ready to take care of the procession of golfers expected there over the week-end.

England Will Meet United States In Davis Cup Tourney

Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 10 (AP)—England won the right to meet the United States team in the inter zone finals of Davis cup play by defeating Czechoslovakia in the doubles match today after winning both singles yesterday.

England's surprising youngsters, George Hughes and Fred Perry, teamed to ship the Czech doubles combination of Roderick Menzel and F. Marsalek, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

The United States team, with victories over Mexico 5-0, Canada 4-1 and Argentina 5-0, will face the Englishmen in the Roland Garros stadium in Paris, July 17, 18 and 19. It will provide a battle of youth for the American singles burden probably will be carried by 19 year old Sidney B. Wood and 21 year old Frank X. Shields, Wimbledon singles finalists.

Robinson Answers Watson Challenge On Tariff Schedule

Little Rock, Ark., July 10 (AP)—Senator Robinson, Arkansas, Democratic senate leader, today answered a challenge of Senator Watson, Indiana, Republican senate leader, by announcing that "an earnest effort" will be made to reduce tariff rates when congress convenes in December.

Senator Watson last night challenged the Democratic leader to "assume the leadership in a fight to make a 'serious revision' of the present tariff law."

"I feel justified in replying," Senator Robinson said here today, "that when the congress convenes an earnest effort will be made to reduce tariff rates, which, in the sound judgment of business men and economists have tended to restrict foreign markets for American products and to inspire retaliatory measures on the part of foreign countries."

Commenting on the Democratic leader's statement, Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, one of the authors of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act, said in Salt Lake City that he did not think a revision of the tariff would be made at the coming session of congress.

Brewers Will Sell Shires to Highest Bidder, Nahin Says

Milwaukee, Wis., July 10 (AP)—Louis Nahin, president of the Milwaukee Brewers baseball club, said today Charles Arthur Shires, first baseman, would be sold to the highest bidder at the close of the current American Association season. Talent, not cash, will be asked.

Nahin said he has received bids for Shires from several clubs, including the Boston Braves, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Nationals.

When Shires was brought from Washington this spring it was generally predicted he would appear next season with the St. Louis Browns, but that team has no spare talent to offer. Nahin said he regretted losing Shires, whose consistent batting strength has aided the Brewers considerably this year.

Bruce Barton Wins His Way to Finals

Detroit, July 10 (AP)—Bruce Barton, western Ontario singles champion, won a place in the finals of the Michigan closed tennis tournament when he defeated William Irwin, of Grand Rapids, 6-2, 6-1 and 6-3.

Irwin led at only one point in the match when he broke through Barton's service to lead at two games to one in the opening set. The rest of the match gave Barton no difficulty.

An upset in the semi-final round of the women's doubles was furnished by Mrs. Daisy Tree and Marion Pearson, both of Detroit. They defeated Mrs. Emily Johnson, of Wyandotte, and Mrs. Ruth Reise, of Saginaw, the No. 1 seeded team, 6-4, 5-7 and 6-2.

STILL SOME SAILERS

London—The grain fleet is in from South Australia, and Falmouth harbor is one of the most romantic places on the globe as a result. The grain ships, for the most part, are old windjammers, some of the few that are still afloat. Despite their antiquity, however, they all made fast time on the trip up. The four-masted Herzogin Cecilie has been known to sail more than 17 miles an hour, which is considerably faster than the average steamer's time.

SCHAAF KAYOS MALONEY AGAIN

Boston Heavyweight Says He Will Hang Up the Gloves for Good

Boston, July 10 (AP)—Ernie Schaaf scored his second consecutive knockout over Jimmy Maloney, his rival Boston heavyweight, in the third round of their return ten round go before a packed house of 18,000 here tonight in the Boston Garden.

Schaaf's terrific right hooks dropped Jimmy four times in that session but the South Boston Irishman gamely took three short counts, and as he reeled about the ring, Schaaf flattened him again with a carefully aimed right to the jaw.

Schaaf weighed 205 and Maloney 200.

The battle ended Maloney's ring career, which has lasted almost a decade. A few weeks ago he clashed with Schaaf for the first time and was knocked out in 70 seconds. When Jimmy agreed to the return match he said he would retire if he failed to defeat Schaaf.

Ernie, seconded by his co-manager, Jack Sharkey, who made a flying trip from New York where he is training for his coming bout with Mickey Walker, tore out to slaughter Jimmy at the opening bell.

Lands Kayo Blow.

The latter promptly fell into a clinch and scored a light left to the body. Maloney appeared nervous and overcautious. He clinched at every opportunity but could not escape the savage hooks that Schaaf poured into his body during the first round.

Maloney had better luck in the second, often scoring both hands to Schaaf's body and flicking his head with light lefts.

The former sailor, however, continued his body attack and gained the round by a slight edge.

Sharkey evidently gave his protege new instructions for Ernie moved his attack up to Jimmy's head. A short but heavy right almost dropped Maloney and before he recovered from it, Schaaf backed him into a neutral corner and dropped him for a six count with a right to the jaw. Maloney was helpless when he gained his feet and was dropped immediately with another right hook. This performance was repeated twice and Maloney was flat on his back and beyond all counting when the referee stopped the bout.

HAGEN LEADING CANADIAN OPEN

Old Master One Stroke Ahead of Field at Mississauga

Mississauga Country Club, Toronto, Ont., July 10 (AP)—The old master, Walter Hagen, toured around Mississauga's layout in 68 strokes in the second round of the Canadian open golf championship today to blast his way into the lead by a single stroke.

Hagen's 36-hole total of 136, representing a pair of 68's, just was good enough to nose out Johnny Farrell of New York, former United States open champion, who added a 68 today to his 69 of yesterday for a total of 137.

Farrell was on the line all the way, hitting his tee shots down the middle of the fairways and his approaches dead to the pin. Hagen on the other hand was in frequent trouble but saved himself by some magnificent recoveries and his fine work on the greens.

Alliss is Third

Back of these two leaders trailed Alliss of Germany, whose 68 in the first round had given him to lead on the field. Alliss slipped to a 71 today for a total of 138. Tommy Armour, defending champion, put together rounds of 68 and 72 for 140.

Tonight the field was cut for the final 36 holes of the championship tomorrow by the elimination of all those more than 20 strokes behind the leader. All of the outstanding United States, British and Canadian contenders were within that limit, the survivors including 33 from the United States, 32 from Canada, 10 from Great Britain, one Frenchman, Auguste Boyer, and the British-born Alliss from Berlin.

Defending Champion Loses Net Match

Chicago, July 10 (AP)—A trio of speedy young southerners battled their way into the semi-final bracket of the Illinois state tenis tournament at the Chicago Town and Tennis Club today.

The defending champion, George O'Connell of Chicago, was eliminated by the brilliant paying of Karl Kamrath, of Austin, Texas, who won, 6-1, 3-6, 6-0.

Another Texan, Bruce Barnes, of Austin, the tournament's ranking player, resumed his match with Scott Rexinger of Chicago and won one game to take the final set.

Championship Bout Postponed by Rain

New York, July 10 (AP)—Rain tonight forced postponement until Monday night of the flyweight championship bout between Midget Wolgast, Philadelphia, and Ruby (Dark Cloud) Bradley of Holyoke, Mass. The bout, at 15 rounds, was scheduled for tonight.

Braves Come from Behind to Defeat Brooklyn by 4-3

Boston, July 10 (AP)—Subdued by Dazzy Vance for seven innings, the Braves came to life after two were out in the eighth to drive the Brooklyn ace from the mound, score three runs and defeat the Robins 4 to 3, in the second game of the series.

A double by Moore, who had replaced Urbansky at third base when the latter had been knocked unconscious chasing a foul into the grandstand, started the Braves' rally. A pass to Worthington, Sheely's single and Schmalmerich's double to right, scored the trying runs. Quinn, who relieved Vance at this juncture, purposely passed Spohrer to get to Maguire and the Braves' second baseman came through with a single off Bissonette's glove to score the winning run.

Lefty Ed Brandt pitched the distance for the Braves to score his seventh victory of the year.

17 Conservation Officers In Lower Peninsula Dropped

Lansing, July 10 (AP)—A reorganization of the field force of the state conservation department, made necessary by a shortage of funds, was virtually completed today. George Hogarth, conservation director, announced the dismissal of 17 lower peninsula conservation officers, the demotion of three district wardens and a consolidation of districts. A few days ago 12 upper peninsula wardens were dropped from the payroll and the number of districts was cut. The total savings, according to Hogarth, will be $87,000 a year.

Lower peninsula districts have been cut from 10 to 6, and in the upper peninsula there are four instead of seven.

The district wardens who were demoted were Ed Dewell, Boyne City; Mark Craw, Traverse City and James Leggett, Algonac.

Chain of Safeway Stores Enlarged

New York, July 10 (AP)—It was reported in Wall Street today that the acquisition of MacMarr Stores, Inc., by Safeway Stores, Inc., was looked upon in some quarters as the first step in organization of a chain to rival the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company in size.

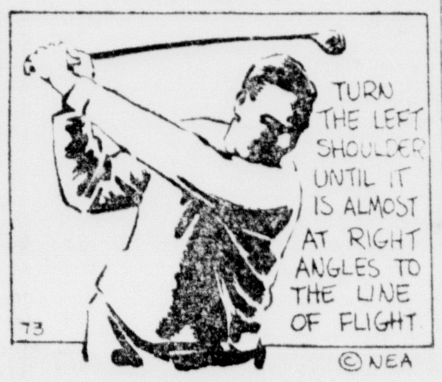
Following the absorption of MacMarr, Safeway will be the third largest retailer in the country, its volume being exceeded only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company and Sears, Roebuck and company.

Two California inventors have built a gold separator which, they claim, will do the work of 1250 men.

Golfing

BY ART KRENZ

How far should the shoulders turn in the backswing?



Turning the shoulders well around is essential in the golf swing. It facilitates the proper weight shifting. According to Mac Smith, the weight will not transfer properly if the shoulder is dropped.

The average golfer restrains the turning of the left side, which results in taking the club outside the line of flight and cutting across the ball. No attempt should be made to steer the ball since this hinders the body and shoulder turn.

Turn the left shoulder until the back is almost at right angles to the line of flight. Keep enough weight on the left foot so that the inside of the left foot will grip the ground as the left heel leaves it.
